Greater Victoria Maytime Festival Is Set In Motion

Ten Thousand School Children Greet This Morning With Joy as Big Three-day Programme Is Launched to Commemorate Birthday of Queen Victoria and Empire Day; Holiday Spirit Warms Up as Opening Day Proceeds.

With "fine, warm and dry" as the weather forecast from the Gonzales Hill Observatory, Greater Victoria entered to-day upon a three-day carnival festival in joint commemoration of Queen Victoria and observance of Empire Day. Upwards of 10,000 children in city and district schools swing into action to-day, in opening a fine list of attractions planned for the holiday period. As principals in the school sports pageantry and also as spectators, children will provide most of the attractions planned for to-day.

In addition to features earlier in the day, this evening will see the Coronation of Queen-elect Clare at the Arena, to reign over 67,000 subjects in the Greater Victoria district. The crowning will take place at the Willows Arena, where, commencing at 7.30 o'clock, over 2,000 children will be massed to take part in a programme of infinite attraction and charm, planned by teaching staffs and others, under the direction of the School Trustees of Victoria and district.

There will be five numbers by massed school choirs, upwards of seventeen folk dances, featuring the folk dancing of many nations; a brilliant spectacle of the Coronation itself, in which Queen-elect Clare will be seated at the head of her Maytime Court, with attendant princesses. The Shrine Band will render a lively programme and the best citizen for 1929 will be named by the Native Sons and Daughters of British Columbia. The best citizen will be presented with the award of the appreciation medal by Mayor Anson.

SAILORS HELPING
In port for the period, the complement of H.M.S. Colombo have entered into the carnival spirit of the holiday season with a will. The British light cruiser will field football teams, a band, a landing party to march under arms in the grand parade, and generally have left no stone unturned to add their bit to the festivities. The football team from the cruiser will meet a city team at Royal Athletic Park at 6 o'clock this evening, and other fixtures lined up for succeeding days.

LARGE VOTE FOR RAIL TERMINAL

Commons Committee Approves $50,000,000 Scheme of C.N.R. in Montreal

Ottawa, May 23.—The bill to provide $50,000,000 for the construction of a Canadian National Railway terminal in Montreal was approved to-day by the Commons committee on railways. No important opposition developed and the various clauses of the bill were put through rapidly. A deputation from the City Council of Montreal took part in the discussion.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the C.N.R., explained why the C.P.R. and C.N.R. were not constructing a joint terminal.

"To join with the C.P.R. in the Windsor Street Terminal would not solve our own difficulties or the general transportation situation of Montreal from our point of view," said Sir Henry, who added that the C.N.R. has decided to go its own way. On the (Continued on page 2)

BANFF CITIZENS PLANNING SOON TO ESTABLISH AIRPORT

Banff, Alta., May 23.—The air-minded citizens of Banff are awaiting with considerable interest the expected visit of Squadron Leader Tudhope of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Ottawa, who is touring Canada in connection with Air Force matters.

As the Banff Aero Club, backed by various community organizations, recently took steps to draw to the attention of the Federal authorities the advantages of this spot from an aviation point of view, it is hoped definite action may result from his inspection.

It was announced recently by the Postmaster-General that Banff probably would be the western terminus of an air mail service to be established this year, and the citizens are looking about now for a convenient site for an airport.

The plans, under discussion when the Postmaster-General made his announcement, called for a survey of the mountain region to discover the best route to be chosen when the service is eventually extended to the British Columbia coast.

CITY TO OBSERVE GENERAL HOLIDAY FOR MAY 24 FETE

Malkin following yesterday's Canadian Club luncheon here in honor of the Young Australia League party of 100 now visiting the coast.

Brig-General V. W. Odium, president of the club, has given his approval and the club executive is to consider the scheme shortly. It is proposed other Canadian clubs co-operate in the movement.

Meanwhile departure of the monoplane Green Flash for Rome has been delayed at least until to-morrow by storm conditions over the Atlantic.

The Green Flash's crew is composed of Pilots Roger Q. Williams, a picture of whom appears above, and Lewis A. Yancey.

Rene LeFevre, Jean Assolant and Armand Lottit will be aboard the Bernard plane.

The earthquake interrupted wire communication with Chile.

Mendoza was overthrown by an earthquake in 1861.

SALMON TREATY OPPOSITION IS RESENTED HERE

Efforts of Selfish Private Interests to Block Final Ratification of Fraser River Treaty Under Guise of Power Development Causes Concern on Coast; Treaty Provisions Have Full Support of Provincial Government.

Development of opposition by certain eastern canner interests through representatives in the Ottawa parliament to the ratification of the Fraser River Sockeye Conservation Treaty by Canada and the United States has aroused considerable resentment among fishery interests in this Province and also in official circles in the Provincial Government staunchly supporting the provisions of the treaty.

HATCHED IN B.C.
The question of power has been introduced at Ottawa as the basis of the wedge which is generally construed to mean that powerful interests are manoeuvring to get the salmon treaty sidetracked before final ratification is given by Ottawa and Washington.

INSIDIOUS PROPAGANDA
Insidious propaganda is being circulated towards this end, not only in opposition circles in Ottawa, but also in this Province.

The controversy is likely to cause postponement of ratification until next session, owing to the early date of prorogation. That any efforts to bring about the abrogation of the salmon treaty to suit the desire of selfish interests will meet with complete defeat is the opinion that is prevalent, it is claimed, in government circles on this coast.

The salmon treaty has been accepted by the British Columbia Government as a genuine effort to restore the depleted fisheries of the Fraser River and the present government has given definite indications of its intention to back up the treaty provisions to the full extent of its power.

EFFORT TO MAKE U.S. TARIFF BILL RATES HIGHER

Republicans of Committee Make Recommendations to House Members

Washington, May 23.—Republicans of the House ways and means committee, following their efforts to agree on changes in the tariff bill, made their report to the House Republican conference behind closed doors to-day.

Among the changes reported to the conference is one of special importance to Canada, an increase in the duty on live cattle. The new rates are two cents a pound on all cattle under 900 pounds. The present rates are one and one-half cents on all under 1,050 pounds and two cents over that.

BUTTER DUTY
Other changes recommended include a two-cent increase on butter, making the rate fourteen cents a pound instead of twelve cents, as at present.

Hides, now free, are given a duty of ten per cent, with fifteen per cent on leather and twenty per cent on shoes, now free.

Another important change having effect on imports from Canada is an addition of twenty-five cents a hundred pounds to the rate on potatoes as compared with the original bill. The new rate would be seventy-five cents a hundred pounds.

Vote of Chamber Upholds Poincare
Paris, May 23.—The Chamber of Deputies reopening its session to-day, gave the Poincare Government a vote of confidence, 326 to 251, postponing interpellations on the arrests made on May 1.

School Pupils Sing In First Holiday Event

Miss Mackenzie Places Wreath in I.O.D.E. Ceremony at Parliament Buildings

Thousand Scholars Take Part in Opening Event of May-time Celebrations

More than one thousand boy and girl pupils of the senior classes of the Victoria Public Schools inaugurated May 24 celebrations here this morning by a ceremony under the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., in front of the Parliament Buildings.

Miss Helen Mackenzie arrived at 10 o'clock and was greeted by Mrs. L. A. Genge, vice-regent of the Municipal Chapter, who was supported by officers of the I.O.D.E. organization and a troupe of standard bearers in white.

The school pupils were ranged on the steps of the Parliament Buildings. Major Wheadon placed groups of Cadets, Girl Guides and Sea Cadets, lining the main pathway from the Buildings down to the Queen Victoria statue on Belleville Street.

To the accompaniment of the Shriner's junior band, all in white uniform, the massed school choirs sang "O Canada" as Miss Mackenzie arrived and walked across the lawn to take her place in the parade of I.O.D.E. officers and standard bearers, who marched up to the centre front of the Buildings. There the standards were put at rest while the school choirs sang "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and "Land of Hope and Glory." Rev. H. Knox had charge of the short religious part of the ceremony between songs.

Then headed by a detachment of Sea Scouts and Girl Guides, Miss Mackenzie, accompanied by Mrs. Genge, I.O.D.E. officers, Major Wheadon in Highland uniform, and standard bearers with flags, marched down through the lines of cadets to the Queen Victoria statue, where she placed a large wreath which had been specially made by Miss Pooley of the Esquimalt Chapter.

Groups of little girls from the various schools under J. M. Campbell then followed down from the Parliament Buildings. They carried bouquets of flowers, which they deposited around the base of the statue.

After that the school choirs sang "God Save the King," while the officials stood at attention.

The goal, if attained, will find them still flying at nightfall Saturday evening with a new record written on the cockpit of the Fort Worth, the craft in which they took on at 1.35 a.m. last Sunday in an attempt to surpass the sustained flight time made by the United States army monoplane Question Mark.

The Fort Worth, piloted by L. Robbins with James Kelly as assistant, made its eighth refueling contact at dusk last evening.

There were about 150 in the plant when the explosion occurred. All the injured are expected to recover.

BANDIT SHOOT MAN FOUR TIMES

Escapes After Robbing Man and Woman, Motorists, Near Spokane

Spokane, Wash., May 23.—A bandit shot William J. Johnson, twenty-nine, four times, roughly, in the back, with a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver, today. Johnson, who was driving a Buick, was shot while he was driving. The bandit, who was wearing a mask, shot Johnson four times, once in the back, once in the chest, once in the arm, and once in the leg. Johnson was taken to the hospital, where he is now lying. The bandit escaped after robbing Johnson and a woman, and a motorist, near Spokane.

The bandit obtained small sums of money from them and a watch and a diamond ring. The two had gone for an automobile ride and were making a turn at the Mulligan Bridge when a man with a pistol stepped from the shadows and ordered them out of the car.

Johnson's ankles and wrists were lashed by the thugs with copper wire, and Miss Mulligan's wrists were tied. Johnson declared he was thrown back into the car and the bandit dragged the girl away. Johnson struggled to free himself and help her, and the assailant fired four shots at him, hitting him in the jaw, right arm, neck and chest.

Then the bandit went to the gasoline tank, opened it and set the car afire. Johnson freed himself, he said, and staggered from the machine into the brush. The bandit fired several more shots at him without effect. A passing motorist brought Johnson to a police station here, but he was unable to give a coherent account of the attack. He reported the girl had been burned to death, but meanwhile she had also escaped and made her way to a house two miles from the burning car. Physicians reported she suffered only from shock, scratches and bruises.

Two automobiles loaded with officers, sped to the scene of the attack, but failed to find traces of the bandit.

NEWEST PHASE
Dealing with the newest phase of the salmon treaty question The Vancouver Daily Province of yesterday's date has the following to say:

"Intimation from Ottawa that there is opposition in the Canadian Parliament to the ratification of the Canadian-United States Fraser River sockeye conservation treaty was received with surprise and some alarm at the Parliament Buildings. Investigation by officials most closely in touch with this matter revealed a serious misunderstanding in the minds of some federal legislators and fishing interests, and it was hoped that an explanation on this point would end all hostility to the pact.

RICHMAN TRYING Hard to Reduce Bunion's Lead

Pecos, Tex., May 23.—The mad drive of Sam Richman to lessen the gap between fourth and third places in C. C. Pyle's transcontinental bunion race continued yesterday with the New York Jewish runner again leading the lopers to the night stopping place. He ran the thirty-nine miles from Monahans, Texas, to this city in 4:39:40, thereby cutting almost fourteen minutes from Glusto Umek's time in third place in total elapsed time. He still trails Umek by more than thirty hours, however. Umek was second in yesterday's lap in 4:45:05.

John Salo, Passaic, N.J., leader in elapsed time, again tied Pete Gavuzzi, second place man, for the day's lap. The two tied for third in 5:01:40. Salo's leadership in the race remained twenty-one minutes and thirty seconds.

Police Acted After Protest Received From The Attorney-General

North Vancouver, May 23.—Attorney-General R. H. Pooley threatened in a recent letter to send provincial police to "do the work" unless conditions at the Grand Canyon Hotel are remedied.

Reeve J. M. Fromme reported to the North Vancouver District Council last evening when J. J. Moran applied for a license to operate a dance hall in the vicinity of the hotel.

Mr. Moran also applied for permission to operate an amusement device known as "The Whip" and there was a lively discussion before the council decided to grant the license. Reeve Fromme and Councillor W. H. Woods opposed the motion.

The reeve declared that following receipt of the letter from Mr. Pooley, the chief of police had received orders to make a "clean up" of these orders had been carried out, he said.

"When the Attorney-General sends a letter stating that unless conditions are remedied he will send provincial police to do the work, I think it is time to go carefully," said Reeve Fromme.

Auto Firm Head In Britain Enters Election Argument

London, May 23 (By Canadian Press Cable).—Sir Herbert Austin to-day made his promised reply to last night's speech of Right Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald and advanced his controversy with the Labor Party a step. He holds it is his duty to warn the electors, and especially his own workers, of the possible consequences of removal of the safeguarding duty on autos, because after the election it would be too late.

He said he was well aware of the provisions of the Emergency Powers Act, referred to by Right Hon. Philip Snowden last night. He was also aware that if the Government committed the unpardonable error of deliberately destroying an important industry like the motor trade by repealing the McKenna duties, the electors would not leave it in power long enough to put the Emergency Powers Act into operation, and in any case no government could resurrect an industry in the last stages of decay.

The controversy between Sir Herbert Austin, head of the great auto concern at Birmingham, and Labor Party leaders now occupies the centre of interest in the election campaign. It began when Sir Herbert made public a letter saying that if the McKenna duties were removed after a change of government, his plant might have to close down.

San Francisco Ball Fan Hangs Himself; Once Coached Stars

San Francisco, May 23.—Jack Jeffrey, familiar figure at the Golden Gate Park baseball grounds here for more than twenty years, took his life by hanging yesterday. Jeffrey was an old-timer who first encouraged some of the present stars of the game. For nearly a quarter of a century, Jeffrey watched the "scrub" games. Some of the boys he coached and aided are Tony Lazzari and Mark Koenig of the New York Yankees; Willie Kamm of the Chicago White Sox, and a host of lesser lights.

Reasons for his act are unknown. He was fifty-five years of age.

Young Australians Visiting B.C. Coast See Loggers at Work

Vancouver, May 23.—Young Australians to-day learned reasons why their native land should buy more British Columbia lumber. As guests of the British Columbia Lumbermen's Association the 160 youths belonging to the Young Australia League party now visiting Vancouver left at 9.30 a.m. for a day trip to the logging camps.

Leaving in cars provided by their hosts, the boys were taken for a run to Pacific Highway logging operations, then on to Barnet for an inspection of the Barnet Lumber Company's mills.

During the late afternoon the boys will return to Vancouver and will be taken in charge by Publicity Bureau officials to the recorded up Grouse Mountain to be the guests of the city at dinner.

WOOL DUTY IN BRITAIN DEBATED

York, Eng., May 23.—The Yorkshire Post to-day said it had learned on reliable authority that recent application of British manufacturers for a safeguarding duty on light woolen textiles had been successful. If the Conservative Party is returned to power, it plans to include the necessary legislation in a second finance bill in connection with this year's budget.

The application of a number of textile manufacturers for a safeguarding duty was the subject of a lengthy inquiry before a committee of the Board of Trade some months ago.

"SAFETY FIRST" MUCH-ARGUED

Other Candidates in Britain Seem Conservatives For Their Policies

London, May 23 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—"Safety first" has ceased to be merely a Conservative slogan. It has become an election issue in this electoral struggle, which is notable for having no single predominant issue. Its echoes now reverberate through the length and breadth of the country. Liberals and Labor scoff at it as typical of what they term the Tory type of mind.

"Safety first," exclaims Ramsay MacDonald, "but whose safety first? Is it safety first for the Tory Party or is it safety first for the dweller in the slums?"

Sir Oswald Mosley calls it "Baldwin's Bleep." Sir Oswald and his wife, Lady Cynthia Mosley, are both Labor candidates.

"Safety first" is an appeal to cowardice. It is not an appeal to England," charges Sir Oswald, campaigning in Birmingham. "Why for the last four years Premier Baldwin has sat like a hypnotized rabbit in front of a snake."

BALDWIN REPLIES
Mr. Baldwin's resort to the same slogan, used at railway crossings, safety first, he says, has saved many lives, but it has never hampered the progress of the railways, and he adds it is much better to spend a few minutes on an English pavement than eternity in a tomb in Russia. So, the noise of the rolls on in every borough, county and hamlet. The vote will decide it all on May 30.

Paraguay-Bolivia Dispute Is Reported To League Members

Geneva, May 23.—Paraguayan charges that Bolivia is preparing military action on a large scale in the Chaco-Boreal region and Bolivian accusations that Paraguay has made unjustifiable incursions into Bolivian territory were contained in documents published by the League of Nations to-day and distributed to all members.

other hand, the C.P.R. considered it had adequate terminal facilities at present. The proposed terminal could at any future time be used as a union station, Sir Henry assured the committee.

TO END LEVEL CROSSINGS

The $50,000,000 which was being asked for was not to be expended entirely on a railway station, he said. Only one-third of the amount would go to the station. The other two-thirds of the sum would be used in connection with the elimination of level crossings and for other necessary features of the project.

Ten years after the completion of the terminal work, it was expected six per cent on the capital amount expended would be earned.

VICTORIA'S TEMPERATURE

To the Editor:—The meteorological office reported Victoria's temperature on Thursday at 59. This is considerably less than the maximum recorded by half a dozen thermometers I looked at in the city. Nor is it in the best interests of this city that our maximum should be advertised abroad as 59 while Vancouver and Seattle are enjoying a balmy 74 and 72. I warn everybody who has been waiting for the VICTORIAN.

SAANICH ROADS

To the Editor:—Replying to a "Disgruntled Ratepayer," who is so disgusted that he does not want his name to be made known, allow me to correct a few mistakes he makes. He says: "We have spent a mint of money to secure the services of an experienced engineer, what for I fail to see, except to build roads to Butchart's Gardens, etc."

It does not know where the mint of money comes in. We pay the engineer the same salary as we paid the late road superintendent.

The municipality does not pay any of the costs to construct the road to Butchart's Gardens and our engineer has nothing to do with the superintending of this work. The whole cost of this road is being paid for by the Provincial Government, and the superintending of the work is being done by their Public Works Department.

Possibly my disgruntled friend does not realize that each winter the frost plays havoc with the roads in Saanich, and, as our equipment is spread over the whole municipality, it is not possible to have this work all done at once.

Now, Sir, I am ready at all times, if called upon, to put any bad road in better repair, if at all possible, and any ratepayer's request is attended to, if reasonable. If my friend had got in touch with me, he would have had a better chance of getting somewhere.

As if, not knowing who he is, or the road he has reference to, I am unable to be of any service.

Further, had my friend communicated with me, I could not only have put his road right, but have corrected him on some municipal matters, four 600-horsepower motors.

TRANSATLANTIC ATTEMPT
Philadelphia, May 23.—Clarence D. Chamberlin has announced that he hopes to make another transatlantic flight next Summer in an aeroplane yet to be constructed. It will be a flying boat of an amphibian.

Aeronautical engineers from several foreign countries are co-operating with him in designing the proposed plane which he said, would have huge wings, with room for sleeping accommodations. It would have a maximum speed of 150 miles an hour and two to four 600-horsepower motors.

REPARATIONS CLAIMS

Toronto, May 23.—A special dispatch to The Toronto Globe from its staff correspondent at Ottawa says:

"The Government has decided to pay war reparations claims in full, with interest. The bill is now in process of revision. Payments are expected to be made this summer to all whose claims have been recognized by the commission."

BOY IS DROWNED

Nelson, B.C., May 23.—Falling off a raft on which he and a chum were playing while bathing in Slocan Lake at Silverton, Lawrence Kirk, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirk, old-timers of Sandon, was drowned in approximately five feet of water yesterday, apparently before the eyes of his chum, eight-year-old Arne Nordberg. The body was recovered by Mrs. George Lockhart, and although two men applied artificial respiration for over an hour life could not be revived.

The lower part of the eye retina of the boy is not useful and so he sees but little except what is below his head, often being known to bump his head when passing through doorways.

TARIFF TOPIC OF SPEAKERS IN GREAT BRITAIN

MacDonald and Snowden Talk of Repeal of Safeguarding Duties

Birmingham, Eng., May 23.—With 10,000 persons cheering him to the echo, Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald declared here last night that a Labor government would tolerate no capitalist intimidation on the repeal of the McKenna "safeguarding" duties. It would carry out the policy it thought best in the interests of the country. And it would come to the assistance of every victim.

Since the opening speeches of the general election campaign no statement by any leader had been awaited with such eagerness as that of Mr. MacDonald. It turned on the letter by Sir Herbert Austin, head of the Austin Motor Works, on the outskirts of Birmingham. Under the McKenna duties, British motor cars get a tariff preference and the Labor Government in 1924 removed them, but subsequently the Baldwin Government restored the protection. Eleven months later, in a letter, Sir Herbert declared that if the McKenna duties were again removed, "it would mean that we should have to reduce our employees at Longbridge—we might conceivably have to close down."

LEGISLATION PROMISED

To this, Robert Dennison, Labor candidate in the King's Norton, division of Birmingham, retorted that if the Austin or any other firms closed down, the Labor Party would immediately introduce legislation to carry on the work in the interests of the workers. At the meeting last night Mr. Dennison presided. Neither he nor Mr. MacDonald made any reference to possible nationalization of the motor car industry, but the Labor leader spared no words in denunciation of Sir Herbert Austin.

SNOWDEN SPEAKS

Morley, Eng., May 23.—Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, one of the Labor leaders, in a speech here last night referred to expressions by Sir Herbert Austin respecting the effect of possible tariff revision upon unemployment. "I would like to remind Sir Herbert," he said, "that there is upon the statute books a measure known as the Emergency Powers Act, which gives the government power to deal drastically with anybody who deliberately conspires to interfere with trade."

"During the eleven months the McKenna duties were repealed, the motor car industry in this country enjoyed a prosperity without parallel in its history. When men make statements, they ought to have long memories."

Young Australian Visitors Guests At Vancouver Luncheon

Vancouver, May 23.—The 160 touring members of the Young Australia League were guests of the Vancouver Canadian Club at a luncheon yesterday.

Major J. J. Simons, leader of the party and founder of the league, was the speaker, international good will was the object of the tour, which has embraced Canada and the United States during the past six months. At the conclusion, after the members and guests had sung "O Canada," the visitors, with one of their own number at the piano, gave a spirited rendering of the Australian national song.

Major Simons said he thought the boys had done something to forward good will between the United States and Canada when they visited Chicago. They had been warned Mayor Thompson did not wish to meet them, but on arrival found that the official car of the League had been granted by the mayor's order the same right-of-way through traffic as is accorded to police and fire vehicles. As a Rotary Club luncheon they were invited to meet the mayor in person, which they did in the city council chamber. Major Simons thrilled the Canadian Club with his stirring allusion to the kinship of Empire. Men of the same blood as those who built up Australia had visited in Canada, he said, and they felt the same pride and interest in these shores as if they were their own.

ANTI-WAR GAS VOTE BY SENATE

Ottawa, May 23.—Approval was given by the Senate yesterday to the Geneva protocol for the prohibition of the use in war of poisonous and asphyxiating gases and the use of bacteriological methods.

Hon. W. A. Giesbach of Edmonton, Conservative, doubted the efficacy of such a treaty. "Of course, I shall vote for it, as it can do no harm," said the Prairie senator, "but it would be the height of folly for any person to be misled into thinking our approval of this protocol settles the question of the use of gases in warfare. A study of human nature goes to show that when men are fighting for their lives they will use any available weapon."

Senator Dandurand, Government party leader, stated in reply that the Edmonton senator would realize covenants of this kind "tend to create an opinion which minimizes the possibility of war being declared." It was true some nations might violate these engagements, but treaties had a powerful moral effect.

SCHEMES TOO COSTLY ARE BAR TO SETTLEMENT

Plans Such as McRae's Top-heavy, Forke Tells House of Commons

Necessary to Avoid Heavy Financial Burdens For New Farm Settlers

Ottawa, May 23.—That the settlement scheme for the Peace River district proposed by Major-General A. D. McRae, Conservative, North Vancouver, was so vast and would be so expensive it should be carefully analyzed, was a statement made by Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, in a debate in the House of Commons last night.

It was not difficult for a person to sit down and evolve a plan of immigration, said Mr. Forke, but he did not believe any scheme involving the expenditure of many millions of dollars would be successful.

He did not believe settlers loaded with too heavy financial burdens had nearly the same chance for success as those who proceeded slowly. The Minister did not wish it to be supposed to immigration. What he did object to was the bringing of a great number of persons to the country who could be absorbed in the industries of the nation at their rate of growth and expansion.

All things considered, it was apparent to him that within a few years it would be necessary to adopt some measure further to control the influx of immigrants seeking to settle in this proper land, said Mr. Forke.

The department had made every endeavor to co-operate with the provinces in the matter of immigration, but in western Canada, in particular, the settlement of the land had been accomplished, nor could anything be expected until the problem of natural resources had been dealt with.

McRAE'S AMENDMENT

Maj.-Gen. McRae's motion, moved yesterday as an amendment to a government motion for the House to go into supply, reads:

"This House regrets the failure of the Government to profit by Canadian experience in the colonization and settlement of the country and deplors the fact that men and women have, during recent months, been settled on Western Crown lands at great distances from transportation, educational, hospital and other necessary facilities, thereby making it almost impossible for them to achieve success and happiness in their new surroundings, and is of the opinion that such conditions can only be remedied by an immediate reorganization of the Department of Immigration and Colonization."

The amendment, brought forward as a test by Gen. McRae on the question of confidence in the administration of the Immigration Department, was not disposed of last night. It will be discussed again next Monday or Tuesday.

GREAT OUTLAY

Gen. McRae's scheme would call on the Federal Government to finance the sum of $300,000,000 with the object of settling 2,000,000 immigrants in Western Canada during a ten-year period. Gen. McRae believed there was a great opportunity to make a large number of farms immediately available for settlement in the Peace River district. The Park Lake land of the Peace River area, which he estimated at fifty per cent of the district, could be cleared within his estimate at $12.50 an acre. Dealing with heavy scrub land, General McRae advocated the clearing of land by controlled spruce fires, a method approved by Government officials and settlers now in the area.

FIGURES QUOTED

The Minister of Immigration, during his speech, in answer to any suggestion that the Government was overrunning with a foreign population, asserted seventy-eight per cent of the present Canadian population was Canadian-born, twelve per cent British-born, and only ten per cent was of foreign origin. He would answer the allegation that thousands of Canadians had left Canada.

ads for the United States in recent times by showing the comparison between present-day emigration and that of 1924. In 1924, 148,560 immigrants had come to Canada, while 159,058 had left for the United States.

Certainly the tide had changed. Even if the Washington figure of 72,660 for the year were correct—and he doubted its correctness—the number of persons leaving Canada for the United States to-day had been decreased very materially.

In 1928 there were 75,580 Britishers who had come to Canada, while 41,059 had come from the countries of north-western Europe and 51,082 from all other countries of the world together. Out of a total of 167,721 people, more than 116,500 were of British and northern European nationalities, the most desirable settlers of all.

Furthermore, more British people had come to Canada in that year than had gone to all the other Empire ports put together. More than 30,000 more Britishers had come to Canada than had gone to the United States during that period, said the Minister.

PROSPERITY FOR FARMERS

H. B. Adshead, Labor, Calgary East, said population was not an indication of prosperity. What was the object, he asked, in increasing the population in Canada northern sections? Was it considered desirable to raise more wheat and thus depreciate the price? He thought it was more important to see the farmers in Canada achieved prosperity.

CHEAP LABOR

John Evans, Progressive, Rosemont, Sask., said the urge for immigration in this country was largely from companies desiring to exploit cheap labor. He complained of the condition of the farmers and said that if agriculture were treated as it ought to be, people could not be kept off the land. Mr. Evans felt there would be no need of an immigration policy if the burden of industry could be taken off the backs of the farmers.

Fraser Elevator Asks Grain Commission To Investigate Shipments

Edmonton, May 23.—To obtain a liberal share of the vast amount of grain, the New Westminster elevator is asking the Saskatchewan Grain Inquiry Commission to investigate charges that certain companies are refusing to follow instructions to divert grain to the Fraser River terminal.

A brief has been submitted and evidence is to be taken at the Edmonton sessions, and the board probably will be asked to make interim recommendations on this subject in order, as the New Westminster elevator management suggests, that it may be able to handle next fall the grain patrons desiring to have shipped to that terminal. If the subject is not dealt with until the regular report has been completed it will be too late to provide the New Westminster house with any business from the 1929 crop.

This half-million bushel elevator, the first of the proposed units of the Fraser River deep-sea port, was not completed until early this spring. It has no connections on the prairies, such as line elevators, to supply a continued stream of grain, and it is the individual shipments which patrons attempted to have unloaded at that point were diverted to the Vancouver terminals. It is this practice that the New Westminster interests want stopped.

The right of a line company to move to its own terminals all grain accepted by it for shipment has been in dispute for two years, and the commission heard much of it on the prairies.

Liberal Speakers In Britain Advocate Big Road Schemes

London, May 23.—The Liberal scheme for solving the unemployment problem in Great Britain by gigantic road construction and improvement schemes was supported in election addresses yesterday by Lord Reading, former Viceroy of India and former Liberal Attorney-General, and Sir John Simon, chairman of the Indian Statutory Reform Commission.

Speaking at the National Liberal Club, Lord Reading said nobody suggested unemployment could be completely removed within a year. All that had been said was that the problem within a year could be reduced to one of normal proportions.

Sir John Simon added: "I would have nothing to do with this scheme if it were a mere electioneering stunt. I support it because, like Lord Grey, I am convinced the policy is right and ought to be vigorously pursued."

PROPOSED U.S. DUTY PROTESTED

Toronto, May 23.—Returning to-day from a fortnight's visit to Washington, A. E. Clark, chairman of the hardwood section of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, said in an interview here that should the proposed tariff on Canadian hardwoods be put into effect by the United States Congress, "the action can not go by unheeded" by Canadian lumbermen.

"Canadian lumbermen, whose industry stands second in national importance, naturally feel such an unfriendly measure should not be proposed," Mr. Clark said.

Mr. Clark said that as far as lumber was concerned, many misleading statements concerning Canadian producers had even been made before the congressional ways and means committee when the latter was considering the tariff bill.

GRAIN WEIGHING IS DISCUSSED

Edmonton, May 23.—"But these elevator interests can't run this country," said the chairman of the Saskatchewan Grain Inquiry Commission, and Fred Ind, a private grain buyer of Lloydminster, here yesterday, over the rights of the producers and the responsibilities imposed on the elevator operators.

Ind was describing how the men operating the elevators had got the best of the grain, as he saw it. He was telling the commission the farmer was forced to sign certain papers relieving the elevator of responsibility for the out-turn being short before it would load a car for him.

"But they can not do that, don't you know?" observed the chairman. "But I am telling you they do it, it was the reply, 'and this particular one to which I refer was a Pool elevator.'"

Ind asserted the out-turn of cars seldom agreed with the "weight in." "I have handled tens of thousands of bushels annually, and ninety-nine per cent has fallen 21, thirteen members being present, with Mrs. Walden presiding.

THE SOCKEYE SALMON TREATY

IT APPEARS TO US THAT THE MORNing paper either has not studied the Sockeye Salmon Treaty or misapprehends the fishery situation as it affects the Fraser River system. In its rather belated opposition to the provisions of the agreement
—signed in Washington on March 27, last, by Mr.
Massey for Canada and by Mr. Kellogg for the United States—it says the Provincial Government should insist upon its redrafting, and, in the redrafting, should see to it that there is no new authority set up
over the resources which belong to British Columbia.

We also are told by The Colonist that the treaty eliminates Puget Sound from the boundaries to be covered by the international commission and that the Americans can retain all their erstwhile privileges of fishing in that area, although such privileges interfere with the passage of the sockeye to the Fraser River spawning beds. If the morning paper will consult the treaty itself, it will find a complete answer to this wholly misleading statement. The treaty, in spirit and letter, is "for the protection, preservation and extension of the Sockeye Salmon Fisheries in the Fraser River System." Article I expressly provides that all regulations issued pursuant to the agreement shall apply to the Fraser River and the streams and lakes
tributary to it AND TO ALL WATERS FRE-QUENTED BY SOCKEYE SALMON within boundaries which are fully set out. The open sea boundary stretches from Carmanah Lighthouse to Cape Flattery, and in the landward direction includes all the waters from the entrance to Puget Sound—
into which, of course, sockeye salmon bound for the Fraser do not enter—northwards to the entrance to the Fraser River itself. In other words, the convention is merely concerned with this stream, which embraces the greatest sockeye area on this coast.

An important point should be remembered in regard to these boundaries. They are precisely the same as those set forth in the first treaty which the two countries negotiated in 1908, and in the second treaty which the Government of Sir Robert Borden negotiated in 1919. Canada signed both of these conventions; but the United States Senate did not ratify them. Sir J. D. Hazen was largely responsible for the terms of the second treaty, and he was Canada's representative at the signing ceremony in Washington. Hence, both parties, when in office at Ottawa, have been definitely committed to these attempts to protect the Fraser River fisheries. Likewise, both Liberal and Conservative Governments in British Columbia have been persistent advocates of the arrangement. The Tolmie Government has been consistently behind it, and has the support of the fishery
interests of this Province in its attitude.

Hon. Mr. Howe, as Provincial Commissioner of Fisheries, has been continuously in close consultation with his deputy, Mr. Babcock, recognizing the importance of doing everything possible to preserve the Fraser River fishery. With this clear understanding of the whole situation—on which the Cabinet is in complete accord—the Provincial Government, as already pointed out, transmitted to the Government at Ottawa its hearty approval of the treaty as signed by Hon. Vincent Massey on behalf of Canada. Yesterday the provincial officials issued a statement, published in The Vancouver Daily Province, pointing out that the treaty obviously had been misunderstood, repeating again that its operation should go a long way towards restoring the sockeye run to the Fraser River system, and assuring the public that its provisions, at the same time, adequately protect both Dominion and provincial interests under all heads.

Information from Ottawa indicates that the opposition which has developed at this belated hour
comes from eastern interests with canning investments on this coast. They want no restrictions of any kind. Their object is to fish to the limit and get all they can without regard to the future of one of our chief assets. The Provincial Government will have the whole Province behind it in resisting the campaign to destroy the treaty.

PAY YOUR MONEY AND TAKE YOUR CHOICE

REPORTS FROM GREAT BRITAIN suggest that those who are always ready to wager
on anything from the weather to the Derby are puzzled to know how to lay bets on the general elections which will take place on May 30. There is very little to guide them in the political history of the last half century. And if they go back to the time of the Reform Act in 1832 they will merely find that since then there have been fourteen Liberal Governments, eight Conservative Governments, one Coalition Government, and one Labor Government. If there had been no Great War, no Coalition Government, no division of the Liberal Party, they might have been able to speculate with more certainty. The growth of the Labor Party, moreover, likewise the number of three-cornered contests, and the economic condition of the country combine to perplex them.

Great issues in the past, of course, have developed startling political reactions. The Home Rule issue in the election of 1886 converted a Liberal majority in the House of 170 into a Conservative (and Liberal-Unionist) majority of 118. The split in the Liberal Party's ranks over the Boer War destroyed
its chances of disturbing the third Salisbury Government; but a Conservative majority of 134 in the contest of 1900 was converted into a Liberal majority in the general election of 1906 of 356. This was the battle between the Free Traders and advocates of the Tariff Reform proposals as originally propounded by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Conservative, or Tariff Reform Party, being led in that election by Mr. Balfour—the contest, by the way, which marked the entry of Labor as a real force in the House of Commons, the Party sending fifty-four members.

The two elections of 1910 were of a unique character. The first took place in January and Mr.
Lloyd George's budget of 1909-1910 was the issue.
He had shocked Britain's financial structure by his war on poverty. His policy operated against the Liberal Party, and its majority in the House dropped to 124. Then in December of the same year the House of Lords in respect of money bills, was the point to be settled. The result of the contest caused very little change, the Government's margin dropping by two.

The next election was the war election of 1918.
when the Coalition Government was sustained by a majority of 224. While this was a foregone conclusion, the contest in 1922—after the famous Carlton Club meeting which restored party lines—effected
a considerable change in the distribution of parties in the House, compared with pre-war days. An anti-Conservative opposition was composed of sixty-one National Liberals, followers of Mr. Lloyd George;
fifty-three Liberals, followers of Mr. Asquith; 142 Laborites, with fifteen Independents and others—the Administration having a majority of seventy-three.

The issue in 1923, of course, was that of Imperial Preference, called the "tin-can election" because of the proposal for preferential treatment for canned salmon. Mr. Baldwin went to the country on this subject so soon after the contest of 1922 because he had promised Mr. Bonar Law, whom he succeeded as Prime Minister, that he would not interfere with the nation's tariff policy without first referring the matter to the electorate. His proposal will be remembered as the "Portsmouth Declaration."

The result was a new re-affirmation on the part of the public's belief in Free Trade, the Conservative Party's majority of seventy-three obtained in the 1922 contest being changed to a minority of ninety-nine.

After the Government's defeat in the House Mr.
Ramsay MacDonald, as leader of the majority opposition party, was called upon to form a Government.
His failure to accept the Liberal Party's amendment to a Conservative vote of censure in the famous Campbell session case resulted in a combination Conservative-Liberal vote against him, and another election followed. The main issue on this occasion was the Zinovieff letter, a communication from Moscow purporting to show that the Soviet authorities were exerting a sinister influence upon British trades union affairs. The Labor Party branded the communication a forgery; but the damage had been done. The electorate, agitated by numerous post-war alarms with a Communistic tinge, gave the benefit of the doubt to the Conservatives and voted Mr. Baldwin back into office—with a majority in the House of 223.

On this occasion the most notable development was the virtual eclipse of the Liberal Party as far as representation in the House was concerned. Its newspaper opponents depicted the Party's members as just enough to fill a motor bus comfortably—there were just forty when the roll was called. At the same time, although so few Liberals were on hand when Parliament opened, the record shows that these forty had polled 2,929,487 votes, compared with 7,855,968 votes polled by 412 Conservatives, and 5,489,192 votes which 151 Laborites had to their credit.

The contest next week apparently will be fought out mainly on the issue of unemployment, the apportionment of votes depending very largely upon the view
which the electorate takes of the somewhat spectacular campaign which Mr. Lloyd George is waging, compared with the "safety-first"—or "let-well-enough-alone"—campaign by which Mr. Baldwin's platform now is known.

By-elections since 1924, incidentally, have indicated that both Liberal and Labor Parties have gained at the expense of the Government. But this is no more an indication of what will happen next Thursday than is the enthusiasm with which Mr. Lloyd George's humorous sallies are received at practically every meeting he addresses.

The puzzling feature of the contest is occasioned
by three-cornered fights. If the Liberal and Labor Parties had entered into a pact to defeat the Government, there would have been no doubt about the result. The force of this contention is obvious in the fact that in the general election of 1924, Liberals
and Laborites between them polled 9,171,471 votes, compared with the total Conservative vote of 8,547,081, leaving the Government in a minority in this regard to the tune of 624,390 votes; yet it had a majority in the House of 223.

Thus it will be seen how difficult it is for those who want to "have a little bit on" to make their bets.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE FUTURE AT EIGHTY-THREE
Looker-on in The London Daily Chronicle

Mrs. Flora Annie Steel was a magnificent example of old age refusing to consider itself done with. Only a little while ago she told a friend that her last book was different from anything she had ever written, and she added: "I am wondering how it will affect my future." She was eighty-three then. What a pity that so brave and enterprising a spirit should now have been quenched.

PAY FOR THE PROFESSIONS
The Hamilton Spectator

It is of the utmost importance that highly trained technical and professional men and women should be encouraged to remain in the Dominion, and the Government is naturally looked to as an employer to set the example to others. Under the best of circumstances, it is hardly to be expected that profitable employment can be found for all of them, but an attempt ought to be made to retain the best. This can only be done by making it worth while from the dollars and cents point of view. Much money is spent on educating these young men and women for the professions, and it is galling to think that another country should be reaping
the advantage of their ability and knowledge. It is hoped that the establishment of research foundations will open up new avenues for the technical experts, and the demands of expanding industry should provide ever-increasing opportunities. But it is, after all, the highest bidder who gets the cream. The government is adopting the right policy in making a thorough inquiry into the problem, with a view to applying any remedies
which the situation may suggest.

A THOUGHT

Who can find a virtuous woman? For her price is far above rubies.—Prov. xxxi 10.
The whole of virtue consists in its practice.—Cicero.

Loose Ends

Out of the void a century hence comes a familiar voice from Sarnich—the man behind the sockeye salmon nature
on the causeway—and the superspeakeasy of Manhattan.

By H. B. W.

ENGINEERS of the Marconi Company announce in London that voices broadcast by radio will wander on the ether forever and may be picked up with new instruments a century hence. Oh, gosh. It is bad enough to think of our grand-children reading about our indiscretions
without listening to our drivellings.
What an earful they will get! A hundred years from now, perhaps, the citizens of British Columbia, then a thickly settled commonwealth of fifty million or so, will be startled some-evening by hearing this out of the void: "Now, then, as a native of Sarnich, I come to the great question facing this Province. What we need is to put our agriculture on a sound basis, and to this end, if elected, I will investigate and survey the situation.
For it is certain that without more Herford fronts on our ranges, Jersey heifers in our barnyards and dehorned strawberries in our fields, we cannot hope to run Canada for Canadians,
and therefore you may rest assured
that no man who is honestly doing his duty will be fired if we are elected.
Which reminds me of the day when I was a boy out at the Willows acting as chaperone to a bull—" Our great-grandchildren will wonder what ancient prophet delivered those pregnant words in olden time, when their great-grandfathers were simple peasants in the wilderness. And they will say among themselves how quaint and innocent life must have been in that remote age, and what hardships the prophets of that day must have suffered in this pioneer land.

BEHIND ALL the fuss and clamor of any important movement you will find one or two men who do most of the work and get none of the credit.
Behind the present effort of Canada and the United States to conserve the sockeye fisheries of the Fraser River is just such a man, our own Mr. Babcock. If the sockeye of the Fraser River are conserved countless unborn generations of that noble family in times of remote posterity will thank Mr. Babcock. Looking back on the twenty years' battle which Mr. Babcock has been waging to protect the Fraser, it is difficult to believe, indeed, that without him there would ever be any hope for the sockeye salmon. He has watched the sockeye salmon year after year from the first days of this century. He has foretold
when they would yield a rich return to the canners, when they would come in smaller numbers and, of late years,
when they would be entirely depleted
unless something was done about them. He has fought vested interests and governments until they have come to him in the end and admitted that he was right. He has heard himself assailed in the Legislature from all sides. He has been attacked in the early days by the late Premier Oliver, who afterwards gave him all the support of his government. For a quarter of a century he has cried like a voice in the wilderness and watched the sockeye of the Fraser steadily decline. He has seen all former efforts to save these fish just as they seemed about to succeed. Mr. Babcock is still fighting as vigorously as ever but he is not so young as he was when he came here
to defend the fisheries of our Province. It will be a fine thing if he can see the completion of the work which he has often carried on single handed and unknown. This will repay him better than the credit which is his due.

THERE is much of human nature,
as has been remarked in this column before, to be learned on the Causeway of a spring morning. From the Causeway these days you will find people of all kinds stopping to peer at the wharves below where they repair
small boats. Boats of every description, large, dirty, ugly fishing craft,
trim gasoline launches, and miscellaneous rowboats—all have a strange fascination for the people on the Causeway, a shadowy remnant, no doubt, of the days when the ancestors of all of us lived on the sea. By some sub-conscious instinct the sight of an upturned boat being painted interests and absorbs us, makes it hard to buckle down to business in the office afterwards, when we could be straining our backs over the oars somewhere out in the Straits. Hundreds pause to gaze down at the Causeway boat repairers at workcraiders on their way to the Parliament Buildings, shop girls hurrying over
twin, greasy oiled off the Gulf ferries, even Cabinet ministers strolling to their exalted place across James Bay.
So you see there is some good in everybody.

THE AUTOMOTIVE age has reached its pinnacle in the top floor of a garage somewhere in the stone jungles of lower Manhattan Island. There, according to no less an authority than Life, an enterprising bootlegger has established the most original speak-easy of all the 32,000 said to flourish
in that wicked metropolis. The imaginative proprietor has conceived a scheme of interior decoration which includes the sawed-off back seats of deceased touring cars, which are used as divans for tired business men patrons and are very luxurious compared to the hard chairs usually found in such establishments. A small automobile horn is attached to each seat,
with which summon a waiter, and
on a busy afternoon you can imagine
you are in the middle of a traffic jam,
and such a situation, of course, is soothing to the soul of the New Yorker. Policemen, too, look very natural in such a place and cause no annoying comment. The liquor, however, is pretty bad and is suspected by Life of containing gasoline. All the cocktails are named after cars, with a Rolls Royce as the most expensive, and another more popular make for those who are not so wealthy. In either case there is satisfaction of really owning a car for once without any outstanding payments. In the middle of the room stands an ingenious beer

keg in the shape of a gasoline pump, cards of admittance are printed in the form of license plates and wise patrons usually take out public liability insurance. Thus, through clever cooperation between the bootlegger and the interior decorator, you can have all the thrills of driving while under the influence of alcohol with none of the risks.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, May 23, 1904.

Again Victoria celebrates her annual holiday; and in a manner and spirit peculiarly her own. The hostess of thousands of pleasure-seeking guests, she is not only appropriately garbed, but zealously patriotic and sincerely conscious of the significance and importance of the occasion she seeks to commemorate by the festivities which have now commenced.

St. Petersburg, May 23.—The report that Rear-Admiral Jazzen, finding it impossible to save the protected cruiser Bogaty, which went ashore recently in a fog on the rocks off Vladivostok, caused her to be blown up, is confirmed.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Moderate to fresh winds, continued fair and warm to-day and Tuesday.

As briefly mentioned in Saturday's Times a party of prominent Mon-trealers, consisting of H. Gordon Strath, the well-known stockbroker, F. H.
Matheson, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in the big eastern metropolis, and Mrs. Matheson and daughter, have been visiting Victoria.
They are on the coast purely for pleasure.

The Best Friend Wouldn't Tell, Even In Days of Old Greece

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

A bad breath has been considered unpleasant since the beginning of time.

The ancient Greek poets wrote much upon the subject and the epigrams of Martial and of Catullus refer not infrequently to halitosis, although the ancients were not so finicky about the name they gave to this disorder.

It is rather difficult to find out just when the understanding arose that a bad breath could be benefited by drinking milk or eating parsley. Milk is a white fluid associated invariably with purity and, no doubt, was taken with the idea that its whiteness would counteract the evil of bad breath. Parsley is a bitter substance associated with the idea of cleansing and the purity of herbs and it also was conceived to have special virtues in attacking a bad breath.

Not infrequently bad breath is due to poor digestion. In such cases eating anything or drinking anything will cause the material in the stomach to pass on and in that way temporarily relieve the condition.

There are other methods of masking a bad breath; for example, the eating of cloves to remove the odor of liquor, a method popular for many years. This may be compared to the sprinkling of perfume over garbage, or the placing of receptacles containing pine tar in public comfort stations.

Halitosis or bad breath is not a disease with a single cause, but a symptom resulting from many possible causes. Infected teeth, tonsils filled with infectious matter or even with decaying particles of food, infections in the nose with crusting, and particularly in the spaces behind the nose are prominent causes of this symptom. When the cause is discovered, the symptom may be relieved by removal of the cause.

Gargles are sometimes effective in washing the mouth and throat. Infected tonsils should be removed. The nose and throat may be washed with simple solutions, such as a teaspoonful of common salt in a glass of warm water. A careful inspection by a physician and an occasional washing with antiseptic solutions may help to clear up such conditions permanently.

There are certain occasions, however, when it is inadvisable to eat onions. The young man about to call on the lady of his choice, the speaker about to address a women's club, or the young lady who anticipates a proposal will do much better on the particular occasion with some other flavoring vehicle.

The water of an "overland" flood along the lower Mississippi travels about one-third as fast as the river proper.

The people of the United States spend approximately $50,000,000 a day for food.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

IDEAL CHILD RESULT OF IDEAL CARE AND TRAINING

Mrs. D. R. B. writes:

"I have read your articles for so long I feel as if I knew you. My little daughter is twenty-two months old, is thirty-two inches tall and weighs twenty-nine pounds. She was breast-fed, on schedule, up to the tenth month. As early as seven weeks I gave up the struggle to force a bottle and since then she has had water and orange juice by spoon. It was natural at weaning time to give her a cup.

"She has been trained to the stool from six weeks on. She has never wet the bed from ten months on, nor at nap time. She wore panties with great pride at thirteen months.

MODERN BABY IS LESS CARE

"Modern mothers should be so happy to know all about these modern methods of child care. My mother thinks some things are more work than in her day, but in general, babies are less care now.

"She has been on three meals a day since thirteen months, breakfast at 7, lunch at 12, supper at 5:30 to 6. I give her lamb chop, scraped beef, halibut, chicken, liver and almost all vegetables. She feeds herself nicely.

"My chief concern now is how to meet the psychological problems that come up daily. I try not to thwart her unless necessary. She has learned through her own experience that fire is hot, water wet, knives sharp, stairs to be climbed with caution. I have to keep her at one end of a thirty-foot clothes-line, as our yard isn't fenced, and the first time I tried her without it she crossed a busy street and was blocks away before I could get to her.

WANTS 'TOMBOY'

"She has been content all morning, but when I answered the phone, the mouse ran away. Little do you know how many of us you are helping. I want to add that she enjoys crude toys better than nice things. I rejoice at that, and want a tomboy, for I have never even skated in my life! A hammer and a board are her idea of a good time. She has never worn wool, and has kicked to her heart's content from the first, never having been swaddled. You may wonder at all this detail, but I have a complete record of her schedule and progress since birth. Did you ever get a longer letter?"

ANSWER

Everything seems to be almost perfect. Barbara has been a plastic little model upon which to work, and your care of her has been ideal. I shall be happy to send you leaflets listing literature that will be helpful with the psychological problems and hope the column will continue to help you, too.

She is just a normal child when she adores pounding. Give her some wire nails and soft hollow board boxes into which she can drive the nails without harm to her fingers. If mothers would provide these harmless outlets for this positive energy, they would save punishment and scared furniture. Children seemingly just have to pound something. How natural that you should demand for your child the things she failed to have yourself. We are all that way. Yes, I've had longer letters. Mothers are usually expansive when writing about their babies. I like it—just as long as they don't use hard pencils.

DEVOTED SISTERS

This splendid record of service to the community had been brought about through the devoted efforts of the nursing Sisters of St. Ann, who dedicated their whole lives to the cause of suffering humanity. Dr. Tolmie paid tribute to Sister Mary Bridget, the first Sister Superior of the hospital, who although over eighty years of age, still takes a keen interest in the work, to Mother Mary Providence, another pioneer Sister, who is still rendering splendid service, in spite of her great age.

ARCHBISHOP SEAGERS, who founded the hospital in 1875, and Rev. Father Brabant, a pioneer missionary, worked devotedly in the cause of the hospital, and their excellent work was being carried on with great vigor to-day by St. Rev. Bishop O'Donnell, the Premier noted.

ALL-LOCAL UNDERTAKING

A word of praise was also given by the Premier to the many generous supporters and to the architect, C. E. Watkins, and he further noted that all the contractors and sub-contractors were local firms, an excellent example of patronizing local industries which might well be emulated. In conclusion the Premier wished the institution every success.

FORMAL OPENING

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor in his address supplemented the Premier's congratulations to the sisters and spoke of the great pleasure he experienced in having the privilege of formally opening the magnificent new addition to St. Joseph's Hospital. During his regime he had followed the progress of the hospital with very real interest, and the new wing he saw an invaluable addition to the magnificent, up-to-date hospital facilities with which Victoria in particular, and the Province in general, was blessed.

After the formal address on the steps, the Lieutenant-Governor and the other dignitaries proceeded to the corridor connecting the new wing with the present building on the main floor, where ribbons barred the way to the new wing. His Honor was presented with a special pair of scissors, suitably inscribed, with which to cut the ribbons, declaring the new wing opened.

The scissors were handed to His Honor by Master Angus Kenning, little grandson of the late Dr. Angus Kenning, and a bouquet was presented to Miss Mackenzie by little Mary Helmecken, granddaughter of the late Dr. J. D. Helmecken.

BISHOP'S DEDICATION

The Bishop of Victoria then gave the dedicatory address. His lordship in the course of his remarks paid tribute to the work of the Women's Auxiliary and its faithful service, and also announced the formation recently of a Junior Auxiliary under the presidency of Miss Marguerite Sehl, with Miss Margaret

Adam vice-president, and Miss Margaret Sehl secretary-treasurer. This band of young girls will supplement the excellent work of the senior organization.

GENEROUS DONATIONS

Thanks were tendered to the following generous friends of the institution for much-appreciated donations: His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, His Lordship Bishop O'Donnell, Reverend Mother-General of the Sisters of St. Ann, Rev. Mother Gabriel Provincial Superior, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McDermott, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kelway, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart, Messrs. Hawkins and Hayward, Mrs. W. S. Fraser and Messrs. Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lloyd Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Loney, Mrs. D. B. Holden, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. O'Halloran, Mrs. Gordon Hunter, the Kiwanis Club of Victoria, the Hudson's Bay Company, the pupils of St. Ann's Academy, the ladies' society of St. Joseph's, St. Joseph's Alumnae Society, Dr. G. H. Worthington of Vancouver, Capt. Crawford of Vancouver, James Hunter, Melior Brothers Limited, David Spencer Limited, Mrs. and Mrs. M. S. Sands, Walter Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Johnson, the pupil nurses of St. Joseph's, Dr. M. J. Keys, Dr. A. D. Bechtel, the Drs. Kenning, the medical staff of St. Joseph's, Miss M. McNamara, Arthur Pugsley, the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., Capt. and Mrs. Gordon Evans, Mrs. N. A. Timmins of Montreal, Baby Richard Gordon Paterson and Walter Brothers Limited.

TOUR OF INSPECTION

At the close of the formal programme the visitors were conducted on a tour of inspection of the new wing. Members of the women's auxiliary greeted the visitors on each floor and the Sisters and a bevy of nurses acted as cicerones. The first visit was to the sun deck of the sixth floor, from which a magnificent view is obtained.

Many generous donors have furnished rooms, and it is notable that in every instance furniture in dainty pastel shades, pretty chintzes and attractive pictures lend a gay and cheery note, suggesting rather a private boudoir than a hospital bedroom. The spacious sunrooms on the three floors have been furnished, one by Hon. R. R. Bruce, one by Mrs. R. P. Butchart and one by Mrs. Leila Timmins of Montreal, each making a most attractive rest room in which the floods of sunshine, aided by the gay furnishings, should prove an incentive to convalescence. The nurseries came in for much admiration, with the pink-spotted dimity curtains and cots in the section devoted to the infant girls, while in the boys' section pale blue was the color motif.

Tea was served in the Sisters' dining-room on the first floor by members of the women's auxiliary, directed by Mrs. Alex McDermott. The long tea table presented a charming appearance with its decoration of blue iris, palest pink snapdragon and tulips. Throughout the afternoon the band of the Victoria fire department played selections on the lawn, and played the accompaniments for the singing of "O Canada" and the National Anthem, which opened and closed, respectively the formal programme.

One day she planned this dinner, which was simplicity itself to prepare. There were not many dishes to wash up afterwards, and that, too, was a blessing. She had Turkish Pilaf with lettuce salad and toasted rolls.

When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion is very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the fifty years since its invention. One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a bottle to try.

Because Women Themselves Have Changed--

Washing Methods Have Changed, Too!

Women have become too progressive to be satisfied with out-of-date methods and ideas. Consequently washing to-day isn't half the job it used to be. Women now have the time on washday to do the housework they really want to do, or perhaps rest . . . or visit . . . or go shopping. And they're feeling stronger . . . looking younger.

But don't imagine they're less particular than their mothers were!

Look at a wash on the line that was done the modern way with Rinso. You'll never see whiter or brighter clothes anywhere. And the woman is in the house feeling fresh and cheery . . . likely enough she'll do much of the ironing that same day. And she won't be fagged out when husband comes home either.

The thicker, richer suds of Rinso are the modern magic that has made this happy change—

The suds are so rich you can actually soak clothes clean, with little or no rubbing . . . and certainly no boiling. In the homes where there's a washer . . . the thick, rich Rinso suds quickly absorb and hold all the dirt.

Are you—like most modern women—using Rinso? If you are not—then there's no better time than next washday to start enjoying the benefits it brings.

Just follow the easy directions on the package.

National League Coal Chute Is Looming For Giants, Others Coast

John McGraw's Baseball Clan Split Double Bill With Brooklyn and Manage to Keep Away From Cellar, But Barely; Yankees Drop Both Ends of Twin Programme to Senators; Reds Lose Sixth Straight When Entertained by Pirates at Forbes Field.

Spectators to the carnage at Ebbetts Field yesterday witnessed the unusual sight of John J. McGraw making undignified haste to avoid a plunge through the National League coal chute into the home of the Brooklyn Robins.

Fred Fitzsimmons took a 7-4 decision over Brooklyn after Clyde Dudley had pitched the Flatbush team to a 3-2 triumph in the opener.

The rest of the fighting in the National League was mainly for exercise.

The Boston Braves won a twin triumph from Philadelphia 6-3 and 10-4.

The Pittsburgh Pirates cornered the Cincinnati Reds at Forbes Field and administered an 11-2 defeat. It was six straight losses for the Reds.

Rip Collins pitched the St. Louis forces to a 7-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox in the American League while the Washington Senators won by 10-2 and 3-2 in a bargain bill at New York.

The Philadelphia Athletics polished off the Boston Red Sox in Philadelphia with little or no effort, 16-2. Cleveland defeated the Tigers 7-4 at Detroit in the remaining American League fixture.

"MORE SPUNK" IS ATHLETICS' 1929 KEYNOTE

Philadelphia Players Show More Backbone This Year, Says Veteran Umpire

Early though it may be in this young season, baseball people seem to be agreed that the Philadelphia Athletics stand a better chance to win the American League championship than they did last year.

Despite the moans that were emitted by Connie Mack in his spring training camp, those who have seen the Athletics this year think they are an improved ball club.

Just where this improvement has been made is not apparent to the eye of the casual fan. It is practically the same ball club that was outgamed by the Yankees last year. At first glance it does not look as strong with Boley out of the game and with Grove off form.

A veteran umpire who worked in the first series between the Yankees and the Athletics tells what difference he saw in the A's of 1928 and the A's of 1929.

"More spunk," he answered without a moment's hesitation. "I like Mack's team better this year and I'll grant that it is just about the same team. The Philadelphia players are talking back from the bench this year."

"I never have been one who thought the Athletics were without courage, but I did think last year that they lacked an aggressive spirit. I worked in that series last year when the Yankees mauled the Athletics and just about clinched the pennant."

THE YANKEES JOCKEYED the very heart out of the Athletics. They called them names that would have made me take off the pad and go to it and there wasn't a word back from the Philadelphia bench. Perhaps good old Connie Mack wouldn't let them get rough.

"But this year in that first series it was far different. The Yankee jockeys started on them and the Athletics gave it back. They were it back so strong that the Yanks toned down a bit."

"I like the chances of the Athletics this year and not for the reason that the Yankee pitching staff looks so badly shot. I like the A's because there is a more belligerent spirit about the club. They talk back now and they are getting so that they are doing a little jockeying on their own."

YANKS TOUGH

"The Yanks are going to be a tough club to beat. Look at all that hitting! And, mind me, when the weather gets warm they are going to get some pitching. Penock will get going, and Piggas will, too. But the Yanks will not win the pennant this year by making faces at the Athletics. The A's are talking back. And that, I think, is their big improvement."

LOCAL AQUATIC STARS WINNERS

V.A.S.C. Swimmers and Water Polo Players Take Points From Colombo

Taking first place in every event they entered, V.A.S.C. swimmers defeated aquatic stars from H.M.S. Colombo in the water gala held at the Crystal Garden last night.

Tom Wellburn, president of the local club, opened the meet with a victory over the sailors in the fifty-yard freestyle, while Miss Desmond and Victor Rasmussen, a Danish pair, the score was 6-4, 9-7.

Miss Willis and Francis T. Hunter had little trouble eliminating Miss Acella Newfield and Roger Dance of Franco, 6-1, 6-4, in the mixed doubles. The victory landed the United States favorites in the third round.

Those expected to make the trip are: Cyril Conneron, "Chuck" Copeland, Frank Skilling, Bruce Rumber, "Bud" Winslow, Jim Inglis, Art Fell, George Aldous and Stan Williams.

The boys will leave the local "Y" in cars at 6 o'clock this evening.

Bang-up Affairs

—By Jimmy Thompson

There is no doubt about it, long distance sprinting gets into your blood. This year there is a newly established race for the Canadian honors.

Although Canada has always been to the fore so far as this game is concerned, it has never declared a national champion. In 1894 the Hamilton Herald ran the first road race in the Dominion, two years before the Greek Government decided to revive the Olympic Games and three years before the running of the first Boston Marathon.

Athletes will be keen to have their names go down on record as participating in the first national championship road race. The event will undoubtedly bring out every marathoner of any account in Canada and also many from the United States. The race will be run to-morrow in Toronto.

The Fort Williams Times-Journal is conducting a ten-mile road race on the same day. This event also attracts a great deal of attention every year and was won last year by Clyde Webb, of Fort William, in fifty-six minutes and twenty-five and four-fifths seconds.

West and City To Meet In Cup Final Saturday

In the final of the Feden Cup soccer series, Victoria City and West will play at Beacon Hill on Saturday at 3 o'clock. All proceeds from the game will be devoted to the injured players' fund. Both eleven have been playing good football during the year and a fast game is expected.

SOFTBALL

Results of games played last night in the City Softball League follow: H.M.C.S. Vancouver 22, Naval Barracks 5.

NOT TO FIGHT

To the Sports Editor:—In a news item appearing in The Times last night in connection with boxing bouts at the Tillicums Gymnasium, my name is mentioned as one of the fighters. This was put in entirely without my knowledge, the promoter of the bouts not having notified me that he wished me to appear. I would therefore like to publicly state here that owing to circumstances over which I have no control, I will not appear in the ring to-night.

LOVE STARS AS TILlicUMS TAKE LEAD IN LEAGUE

Sensational Catches Stop Jokers' Rallies and Give Tillicums 12-10 Victory

Sensational infield play by Bobby Love accounted for much of the Tillicums' success in sending the Jokers down to a 12-10 defeat in the Senior Amateur Baseball League fixture at the Royal Athletic Park last night.

Catching Rivers' fast liner in the third, the Tillicum second baseman put an end to what might have been a dangerous rally. By his play he left two Jokers die on bases. Again in the fourth Love ended a rally by grabbing Stickney's sizzling fly ball with two men on.

LAST NIGHT'S WIN was the second in succession for the clubmen and gave them first berth in the loop.

Dave Donaldson opened the game in the box for the Jokers, but after a draw and Hilton had hit him for homers and three other batters had touched him for safeties, he was taken out. Stickney replaced him.

Pitching his first game of the season for the Tillicums, Eric Whitehead was unable to control the ball and was relieved by Cann in the sixth.

Battling Bon-bon Is Victor But Bantam Throne Is Still Vacant

Smiling "Keed" Chocolate Gets an Unpopular Call Over Fidel La Barba, But Promised Bantam Crown Does Not Go With Bout as Both Boys Overweight; Game Little Italian Shows Continued Aggressiveness Against Heavier Weapons of Cuban Lad and Crowd Would Have Given Him at Least a Draw.

Coliseum, New York, May 23—Smiling "Keed" Chocolate, the battling bon-bon of the bantamweights, waged a furious struggle last night to stamp himself as the outstanding gladiator of a championless division, but failed to convince entirely a crowd of 18,000 fans jammed in Jess McMahon's big boxing barn that he is the master of Fidel La Barba.

The curly headed little Italian from Los Angeles, a former fly-weight champion and student at Stanford University, lost the decision to the dazzling negro after a belting fest that swirled and eddied to rising volleys of cheers through the Coliseum ring for ten hectic rounds.

RECORD BROKEN

When the battle was over and the colorful negro's record of 147 battles without defeat still was unbroken, the cheers still were for the courageous, rushing slugger from the Pacific Coast.

The voice of the crowd and the opinion of a majority of ring-side critics awarded Fidel at least a draw, and possibly the decision, because of the aggressiveness that never faltered, and a busy punching attack that was never entirely stilled by the negro's heavier weapons. The Associated Press score sheet gave Chocolate four rounds, La Barba four and two even. One judge voted the match a draw, the other and the referee awarded the decision to Chocolate.

NO TITLE

It was a battle that lived up to advance notices, a bitter struggle that was never entirely stilled by the negro's heavier weapons. The Associated Press score sheet gave Chocolate four rounds, La Barba four and two even. One judge voted the match a draw, the other and the referee awarded the decision to Chocolate.

It was a battle that lived up to advance notices, a bitter struggle that was never entirely stilled by the negro's heavier weapons. The Associated Press score sheet gave Chocolate four rounds, La Barba four and two even. One judge voted the match a draw, the other and the referee awarded the decision to Chocolate.

Both were in trouble in the second, seventh and ninth rounds, but in the closing round, Fidel refused to hold after taking solid blows on the chin.

The round-for-round description of the fight follows:

Round One—La Barba ripped a right at close quarters and started to make a short range fight of it. He tugged and slugged the grinning negro boy at close quarters, nailing Chocolate's right uppercut hurt the curly-headed Italian as he tore forward, but two more left hooks hurt Chocolate's body. The negro bobbed easily up to the bell.

Round Two—Chocolate, changing his style entirely, went to work viciously on La Barba's body, burying a dozen smashing left hooks that forced the Californian to crouch and hold. La Barba raked and swung with "choked drop" with short left chops to the head, and was butting the negro madly when the gong sounded.

Round Three—A sharp left hook to the head and right cross almost felled La Barba. He went to the flashing Chocolate, regained his breath and then belted the Cuban into a corner with thumping hooks to the head and body. Fidel sagged under as a right uppercut hurt him, and then he was downed by a left hook to the head at the bell.

Round Four—The pace was so hot that both were glad to spar and rest a bit before falling upon each other, toe-to-toe, in a furious rally. Fidel bobbed under Chocolate's long left, took the smiling "keed" right full force on the chin, and then slapped the negro into the ropes with a blistering left and attack. They were milling at the bell.

Round Seven—La Barba missed an overhand right, and before he could recover Chocolate was upon him with storming fists. A volley of left and right uppercuts, hooks and straight punches sent Fidel flying dizzily into the ropes. He bobbed and wove as the negro smashed valiantly for a vital spot and then rallied with a furious burst from both batteries that hung Chocolate panting on the ropes just before the gong.

ALBIE DAVIES IS EASY WINNER

Albie Davies, the clever local feather-weight boxer, scored his sixth main event victory Tuesday night when he handed the hitherto unbeatable Battling Kelly of Skidmore an artistic trimming in the six-round main event of the American Legion's show, which was staged at the Skidmore Armories. The Victoria fighter cleverly avoided the terrific right and left-hand wallop which the Skidmore fighter flung his way and which had been successful in knocking away his former opponents. Davies countered with beautifully-timed, two-handed wallops to the body which soon had the rugged Irish fighter performing like a raw novice. Towards the finish of the fight Davies cleverly side-stepped Kelly's mad rushes, with the result that the Irish boy went through the ropes several times. In the semi-windup Chris Langdon of this city scored a clear-cut victory over Luke Terrill of Arlington.

After the game or practice Joint-Ease takes the kinks, stiffness, lameness and soreness out of your throwing arm so quickly that there is nothing to start all over again in a few hours.
—speedy and sure, and many stars are wise to it.
Other stars—six-day bicycle riders, runners, jumpers, tennis and golf players, all swear by Joint-Ease. It goes straight to the spot of soreness and brings blessed relief in short time. So if you want to keep in the game, take a tin of these successful athletes who know what's best—use JOINT-EASE, a product of Canada, only 60c a tube at all good drug stores all over the Dominion. "Al" and "Bertha" Or "Victor" and "Victoria"

"Scotch" and "Soda" Also Suggested as Names for Two Buffaloes Which Have Made Their Home in Beacon Hill Park; "Maggie" and "Jiggs" Ruled Out as Matrimonial Discard Not Wanted Among Buffaloes.

Matrimonial discord should not enter into the house of buffaloes. Therefore, the names "Maggie" and "Jiggs," as suggested the other night in The Times as titles for Victoria's two buffaloes at Beacon Hill Park would hardly suit, in the opinion of one of the first to submit names for the animals.

Moreover, the nationality of "Maggie" and "Jiggs" is not quite clear—at any rate it is not Canadian. "Why not call them 'Al' and 'Bertha'?" asks this writer.

Several suggestions have been received at The Times office since the "naming campaign" for Mr. and Mrs. Buffalo started. By an unusual coincidence, the names "Victor" and "Victoria" were submitted by two persons, one of whom is a nine-year-old girl of Shirley.

Meanwhile, unconscious of the stir their arrival has caused among the "namingers" of Victoria, the two shaggy-haired creatures are becoming accustomed to their new home in the park. Hundreds of citizens have visited the animal enclosure to view the new arrivals and have commented upon the fine type which they represent.

More suggestions for the naming of the animals are now sought, and should be submitted to the editorial department of The Times. It is probable that Alderman W. T. Strath, who as a former president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, instigated the move to have the animals brought to the city, will act as judge in selecting the most suitable title.

Some other suggestions received in letters to The Times are as follows: "Be your request for names for the buffaloes in Beacon Hill Park, my suggestion is 'Scotch' and 'Soda'." "This, I think, is so good that if any prize is being awarded I think it should be doubled and sent to me at once."

"He suggested names for buffaloes at Beacon Hill Park, might I suggest 'Grain' and 'Elevator' as appropriate." "Moon" and "Mullins." "Mr. and Mrs. and 'Andy' and 'Minn' are my suggestions for names for the buffaloes at Beacon Hill Park."

J. D. McNIVEN IS EULOGIZED IN PRESS ARTICLE

Reminiscences of "The Wanderer" Published in Winnipeg Evening Tribune

J. D. McNiven, chairman of the Minimum Wage Board for British Columbia, is the subject of eulogistic reference by "The Wanderer" in the "First Saw" column of the Winnipeg Evening Tribune of May 16. The article reads:

"I first saw J. D. McNiven back in the old days when he was chief 'ad' man on the old Winnipeg Sun newspaper, edited and managed by the late T. H. Preston, brilliant newspaperman, who died over a year ago at his home in Brantford, Ont. When the Sun, about forty years ago, was sold at a handsome profit—as profits were then reckoned—Mr. Preston went East, and young McNiven, with the wand of the typist of his day, took to the road, so to speak, landing in the staid old town of Victoria, B.C.

"The next time I heard of him, he was in the Legislature of British Columbia, specializing on labor legislation. Labor problems, and the mastering thereof, have been his hobby ever since. He represented the constitution and of Ottawa's Labor Department for many years in the west; 'Jim,' as he was known among his old chums of the 'case' in Winnipeg, had the integrity, plus the savvy, to tackle difficult jobs with a fine natural poise, inwardly and outwardly. His influence was in the direction of peace—attainable, as a rule, as a result of honorable compromise. He had a way of getting extremes together.

"Mr. McNiven, in addition to his later post of Deputy Minister of Labor in British Columbia's administration, has just been appointed chairman of a board to handle chiefly the question of legal minimum wages in British Columbia. British Columbia's Legislature recently passed a new minimum wage act. This new act differs in many of its operations from the measure which was in partial effect until a court decision quashed it last year. Under the former act, the board fixed wages for entire industries, and it is what the courts held to be illegal.

FELT MISERABLE ALL THE TIME

Headaches and Tiredness Ended by "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Some people suffer for years with headaches, without ever trying to find out what is the CAUSE of the pain. They get all run-down, and seem to think this weak, depressed feeling is the result of the headaches. As a matter of fact, chronic headaches are the result of poisoned blood, due to faulty action of the bowels, kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" stops headaches because it regulates the bowels, kidneys and skin—keeps the body of waste matter which poisons the blood—and thus keeps the blood pure and rich. As Mrs. Michael Coulis of Killalea, Ont., writes: "I used to feel tired out, run-down and had severe headaches. After using 'Fruit-a-tives' the headaches and tiredness quickly disappeared and for two years now I have been in the best of health." And you? Do you suffer? Mrs. Coulis shows you the way to get well—take "Fruit-a-tives," 25c and 50c a box—at dealers everywhere. (Adv.)

The present arrangement is designed, in effect, to avoid interference with business, except where this is shown to be really necessary. The old act would have forced the board in charge ultimately to fix wages in all industry, whether the employees asked for this intervention or not. The new act does not go this far.

OUTSTANDING AUTHORITY
"Mr. McNiven is described as 'one of Canada's most experienced authorities on Labor questions'—and he is recognized as virtually the new board, though he is to have two associates, not yet appointed.

J. D. McNIVEN

"Returning to the old Sun office on Market Street East, I recall McNiven and the late Nicholas Flood Davin in earnest conversation at the head of a stairway which led up to the centre of the composing room, and all the editorial rooms connected with the paper, which were on the same floor. Davin was attired in yellow riding breeches, shining leggings, a brown velvet coat, and a fox and aft cowboy hat. A picturesque figure at any time, he looked the last word on this fine September morn. Davin had a marked 'Dublin' accent. Though he had been in Ontario, McNiven also had an Irish accent. Anyway, on numerous future visits to the Sun office, Davin, the man famed throughout Canada for his eloquence, always looked up his 'young Irish friend'."

"It wasn't hard to take to McNiven. A really handsome chap, he had the intellectual background to 'make good' in any company. He was one of those young fellows who didn't believe much in the saying that a young man had to 'sow his wild oats.' A Presbyterian of the old school, he took a more than ordinary interest in St. Andrew's Church, when its home was in the old frame and brick building on Logan Avenue. Here it was that Rev. Dr. C. B. Fitzhugh founded a great congregation, ministered to later by Rev. Dr. Joseph Hogg. I sat in the pew—a row of chairs—next to 'Jim'; and he was seldom absent."

"This old church, or hall—it was known as Selkirk Hall—will live in Winnipeg's history. Here it was that great crowd of bodies—sometimes 200 strong—sang the Handelian oratorio, Mark Twain made his only Winnipeg appearance here; Sir George E. Foster delivered what was said to be one of the most picturesque addresses in his whole career. In the same place, Hon. D. C. Fraser—the Guyanese giant—spoke on the Scottish Covenanters; Dr. Smith, the famous Glasgow divine; Dr. Crumston, the famous and scores of other notables held forth from the pulpit platform; Durward Lely, the internationally-famed Scottish tenor, sang here; so did D. Watkins, McNiven's making his first Winnipeg appearance, and Edith J. Miller sang her farewell songs as she left for London and Paris to enter upon a notable career."

"All this, and more, is familiar to the now veteran type who has been away over forty years—but is not forgotten by Charlie Ham, Walter F. Payne, Sam Youhill, Dave McNally and others of the printing crafts now in their blooming sixties."

TOLMIE MAKES SAANICH MARK

Premier Stamps Foot and Records Completion of Benvenuto Road

Tolmie, supported by his initials autographed in cement, yesterday afternoon officially marked completion of pavement of Benvenuto Avenue, leading to the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. At the ceremony held at the junction of the new concrete highway with the West Saanich Road, the Premier was called upon to record his interest in the new highway, declared by Mr.

Butchart to have been achieved, in great part, as a result of the consistent support accorded by Mr. Tolmie.

A brass plate, stating the date of completion, was placed by Mr. Butchart at the intersection of the new paving with the West Saanich Road. He also announced that, as soon as the road is paved, the road will be planted.

Completion of the road was attended by Lieutenant-Governor Bruce and Miss Mackenzie; Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Acting Minister of Public Works; C. F. Davis, M.P.P.; W. O. Wallace and A. H. Spurr.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Butchart entertained the Government party.

CITY WILL HOLD
UNINVITED GUEST

Man With Long Record For Burglary and Theft Will Miss May 24 Parade

Arriving in Victoria with a pair of gloves in pocket and a flashlight in the other, Roy Sommers will remain as an uninvited guest of the city during the Maytime holiday festival. Later if arrangements can be made for that event, he will be deported.

Sommers, a well-dressed man of middle age and short stature, with a record of a burglar, but the appearance of a successful business man, was arraigned before Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court to-day on an open charge of vagrancy, and pleaded guilty to the charge.

Claude L. Harrison, for the prosecution, stated Sommers arrived in the city yesterday from Vancouver, and was almost instantly picked up by the city detectives. His record, the court was told, included three years for burglary at San Francisco, five years for grand larceny in California, a conviction in Seattle, and a charge of breaking and entering and receiving stolen goods at Vancouver, for which consecutive terms of ten and seven years had been given.

There was a possibility that Sommers could be deported, stated Mr. Harrison, asking that the prisoner be remanded in custody until Monday next, while that phase of his status may be investigated.

COAST HOCKEY League Same
Next Season?

F. Patrik, Refused Chicago Franchise, Expected to Remain With Loop Here

Vancouver, May 23—"I should say it is just about a five to one shot that we will operate in hockey on the coast next year as we did in the season recently closed."

That is Frank Patrik's summation of the outcome of his recent trip east, where the application for a second hockey franchise in Chicago was regrettably turned down by officials of the National Hockey League.

Regrettably, it is true, because of the ten league directors present, seven were strongly in favor of having the coast franchise in eastern hockey.

But Major McLaughlin's plea that the time for a second club in Chicago was not yet ripe, carried a certain amount of justice with it.

"I can see that McLaughlin's reaction to our request was a natural one," said Mr. Patrik. "I was in his position I imagine I would feel as he does about it."

Possibility of a city league operating in the Harmon stadium this coming season is considered remote by the coast hockey leader. Harmon may buy the coast clubs, but the price asked is not small, by any means, and as the venture is highly speculative it is unlikely to be undertaken.

Mr. Patrik says the new Harmon stadium is positively the last word. The day of our arrival," he said, "the place was a sell-out that night. Actually there were 23,000 persons seated and everyone had a clear view of the proceedings."

Saanich Board of Trade Favors Hydro-electric Commission

The Saanich Board of Trade at a well-attended meeting held in the Gordon Head Hall last evening passed a resolution calling upon the Government to delay further action on the disposal of Campbell River power rights until a public utilities commission, similar to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, has been provided. Copies of this resolution will be forwarded to all Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island.

Rev. Montague Bruce, president, stated that the meeting had been called to consider power development in the southeastern districts of Vancouver Island.

Capt. E. P. Matheson had been invited to give a report on the action of the Associated Boards in petitioning the Government to grant three months' delay, in order that the Boards of Trade might inform the people of their interests.

The views expressed were that the time had come for the development of Campbell River, provided that the interests of the public were safeguarded, and that the development should be undertaken by the Government under some plan similar to one of those in successful operation in other provinces.

Mr. Sladen pointed out that a resolution calling upon the Government to provide a public utilities commission had been passed at the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade last year. The resolution calling upon the Government to delay further action on the disposal of Campbell River until a commission has been provided was then drafted in accordance with the wishes of the meeting and was carried unanimously.

For Bad Stomach
Gives Swift Relief

No Need of Strong Medicines or Diet-Safe and Simple Home Recipe Keeps Stomach in Fine Condition

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may find quick and certain relief by following this simple advice.

Don't take strong medicines, artificial dietants or pull down your system with starvation diets. For within reason most folks may eat what they like if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion.

And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with three or four tablets of Bismarck's Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless, inexpensive, and handy tablet form of Magnesia that promptly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A week's trial of Bismarck's Magnesia tablets, which any good druggist can supply at trifling cost, should quickly convince you that 90 per cent of ordinary stomach distress is absolutely unnecessary. Be sure to get Bismarck's Magnesia Tablets! (Adv.)

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Christian and Missionary Alliance, Yates Street, will hold their service on Friday evening as usual at 8 o'clock at the Tabernacle, when the pastor, Rev. Daniel Walker, will conduct the service and give the address.

Three bush fires kept the Victoria Fire Department on the run yesterday between 2.50 p.m. and 4 p.m. with outbreaks of a minor order in several parts of the city. Hillside and Clover Point areas were chiefly visited, but the damage done was negligible.

Heading guilty to a charge of stealing a watch from a home on Balfour Avenue, D. Robinson was sentenced to three months' hard labor in the City Police Court today. R. C. Lowe presented extenuating circumstances in favor of the accused.

Among the out-of-town visitors for the celebration is a Portland party made up of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Matcheck, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Standish, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Edmonds. They plan to remain in Victoria over the week-end.

For the benefit of holiday travelers, traveling of the Malahat has been postponed until May 27. The Sooke Road will not be complete with a new surface until June 1. Rocky Point and Metchoin roads have been tarred. Traveling of the Island Highway near Nanaimo has commenced.

The "Second Mile Club," first Baptist Church, gave a delightful entertainment on Wednesday evening at the Old Men's Home. The program included a lively playlet entitled "A Rummage Sale"; vocal solos, piano solos, recitations, and community songs. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Oliver Brown, president of the club, chairman.

At the close of the preliminary hearing in City Police Court today on a charge of breaking and entering premises at 1006 St. Charles Street, Lawrence Taylor and Frank Wilson were committed by Magistrate Jay for trial by higher court. Evidence given by the prosecution to-day told of the finding of two gold rings lying under the cushions of a car seat, and later recovered by the city police.

Help in maintaining a road which will form one of the main arteries of travel in North Vancouver since the discontinuing of the P.G.E. service from North Vancouver to Whistler was given by a delegation from the municipality which called on the Government yesterday. The delegation consisted of Mayor Morden, Alderman Vance, Alderman White and Jack Louette. Consideration of the request was promised.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Randolph Bruce will be host to two of the Australian boys who will visit Victoria May 28 and leave on the Aorangi May 29. Bilets are needed for 170 boys. An attractive programme is being prepared for the boys, which will include a visit to Butchart's Gardens. An appeal is made for homes for the boys for the night and for cars to take them to the gardens. Those interested are requested to telephone the Mayor's secretary, John Baxter, at the City Hall or Oliver Hollingsworth at the Chamber of Commerce.

Appeals Award In His Favor

Damages Too Low For Injured Vancouver Bricklayer, Counsel Tells Judge

Claiming that the jury had overlooked the inability of Joseph Milholm of 1441 Georgia Street, Vancouver, to hold his trade of a bricklayer, J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., intimated to Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald in Supreme Court yesterday that he would appeal the damage award in favor of his client.

Milholm was awarded damages of $2,187.50, made up of $887.50 special damages and $1,300 general damages against the C. and C. Taxi Service as the result of an accident on July 30 last. He claimed that as he was walking along the sidewalk in front of the C. and C. parking stand a sightseeing car backed into him, fracturing his thigh in two places and leaving him with a stiff knee. Besides specific damages he claimed unstated general damages on the grounds that he was unable to continue his usual employment.

After the judgment in Milholm's favor Mr. Farris claimed the jury while allowing for loss of employment to date and for pain and suffering overlooked the fact that his client would be unable to work again as a bricklayer.

O. J. Boulton appeared with Mr. Farris for Milholm. H. B. Robertson, K.C., and G. S. Heisterman appeared for the C. and C. Taxi Service.

Invite Bids For Sub-contracts On Telephone Block

Tenders are being invited this week by the B.C. Telephone Company for the sub-contracts on the new automatic telephone building being erected on Johnson Street. It is announced by the company's construction department.

The building, which will join the existing exchange at the intersection of Blanchard and Johnson Streets, will be of steel frame and reinforced concrete, one story high, with exterior in harmony with the present four-story block.

It will measure 122 by 71 feet on part basement and is designed for the future addition of a second story when necessary for expansion.

The exterior treatment will be in granite, terra-cotta and pressed brick, and metal casements will be a feature of the windows.

A new and larger heating plant will be installed to heat both the new and old buildings with a hot water system.

The part basement in the new building will accommodate a battery room and workshop, while the main floor will be entirely devoted to the housing of the automatic equipment, which is to be furnished by the Automatic Telephone Manufacturing Company of Liverpool.

When the new building is completed the present structure will be adapted for toll and other purposes.

Princess Nokomis of the Osage Indian tribe with her pale-face husband, Sergeant J. M. Beaven, World War veteran, are to-day the guests of Victoria.

They are making what they term an endless honeymoon which commenced immediately after they were married on July 24, 1926.

The world hiking tour was started on August 4 of the same year from Denver, Colo., and since that time they have hiked all over the United States, getting a lift wherever possible through the generosity of a sympathetic motorist or as the guests of transportation companies.

The couple reached Victoria last evening, traveling from Bellingham to Sidney by the ferry City of Bellingham and spending the night here as guests of the Empress Hotel.

Princess Nokomis is the daughter of Little Chief White Eagle of the Osage Indians of Oklahoma, who married a white woman and was ostracized by his tribe.

Cast off by his tribe Little Chief White Eagle trekked to Flagstaff, Arizona.

ORPHANED AS GIRL
Princess Nokomis was left an orphan at the age of seven years and made her way to Denver where she met her husband in a veteran's hospital in the Colorado city.

Beaven was discharged from hospital still suffering from the effects of being at Epworth while serving with the 26th Division in the Division of the American Expeditionary Force and he was prevailed upon by his wife to take up the rugged life of the Indian by getting back to nature.

During their wanderings Sergeant Beaven and his Indian wife have been received by ex-President Calvin Coolidge, President Herbert Hoover, Vice-President Charles Curtis and by governors and prominent men of the various states visited.

TO-DAY THEY CALLED UPON Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce at Government House. Mayor Herbert Anscomb, Councillor G. P. Hays and George I. Warren, publicity commissioner.

On hearing of the Victoria Day festivities planned for the city to-morrow the visiting party decided to remain over and are expected to occupy a prominent place in the street parade.

Beaven will be recognized anywhere by his "five gallon" cowboy hat, which was presented to him by Texas cowboys and which is punctured cleanly by a bullet from the rifle of a Mexican rebel.

"I was a little too venturesome in taking a photograph of a rebel group while in Mexico and that is the result," said Beaven in explaining the perforation.

RECEPTION WONDERFUL
Beaven and his wife were charmed with Victoria and their reception here. "Everybody has been so genuinely nice to us that we shall carry away happy memories of Victoria," exclaimed Princess Nokomis, who speaks excellent English.

"This hotel is among the most wonderful I have ever seen and the decorative scheme is the water blue of our Indians."

"We have thought and dreamed of this trip to Canada for years," both exclaimed in unison.

After leaving Victoria they plan to travel on foot up-island and will cross to Vancouver from Nanaimo.

They also plan to make a trip to Alaska before setting out across Canada.

They hope to meet Viscount Willingdon and Premier Mackenzie King on their arrival in the city, which will be several months hence.

TO MEET PRINCE
If it is at all possible they will meet the Prince of Wales on arrival in London. This meeting is their crowning ambition and they hope to be greeted by Premier Benito Mussolini in Rome.

STRANGE STORY
A strange and thrilling story of romance and adventure was unfolded by Princess Nokomis at the Empress Hotel this morning.

Her life began on the wide plains of Colorado, which state her father and his white wife migrated when banished by the Osage Indians. When the Indian maiden was seven years old her parents died. In 1926 she was prepared for her marriage to Little Chief Evergreen Tree, but the tribal ceremony never took place, for in that year the princess met Sergeant Beaven.

The princess suggested the Indian cure for her husband by getting back to nature and they both set off on the endless honeymoon.

DO NOT WANT MONEY
Beaven draws a small pension for his war services and, apart from that, the couple have no money, nor do they want any. The life of the nomad is acceptable to them and they are both the picture of health.

Princess Nokomis, though no longer an Indian in the eyes of her people, still retains some of the tribal traditions. She wears a turquoise ring given by her father and on her wrists are remarkable bracelets of native design. Her raven hair falls over her shoulders and is kept in place by a bright bandana about her forehead.

On the highway she wears an Indian designed chamois leather shirt. For comfort, while walking, she wears two breeches and plaid stockings. She has never worn the dress as known to the modern woman.

The Princess says she owes her education solely to her husband.

Nokomis was known in her more youthful days—she is but twenty-four now—as the madcap princess, and in her own words, "the wild cat of the Arizona Rockies."

She is an expert horsewoman. Sergeant Beaven is a native of Louisville, Kentucky.

ROTARY HEARS LEAGUE'S WORK

R. W. Lisle Carr Explains Plans of Overseas League For Empire Knowledge

R. W. Lisle Carr of the Overseas League was the speaker this afternoon at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel. Introduced by Joseph Patrick, Mr. Carr described the efforts being made by the Overseas League to educate the people of Great Britain as to the conditions and sentiments of the Dominions of the Empire.

A similar work is now being undertaken in Canada and Mr. Carr told of the success which has already been attained from the office in operation at Halifax. Another office is about to be opened in Montreal, and it is the intention of the Overseas League to extend the system eventually to all the larger cities of Canada.

Mr. Carr's address touched upon Empire Shopping Week, being sponsored by the league as a means of increasing the trade between Great Britain and the Dominions. He showed that the offices of the league perform a great service in providing much needed information of a wide variety of matters.

Alderman James Adam brought to the attention of the Rotarians the need of more cars to transport the party of Australian delegates, expected to arrive here on Tuesday. He also appealed to the members to act as hosts to the lads the night they spend in Victoria.

Teachers at Gordon Head Are Honored

Pupils of Gordon Head School held a very enjoyable concert last night at the school. The singers were Dorothy Wells and Sylvia and Betty Lambert and Marguerite Alkens contributed recitations. J. T. Walker presided.

During the evening Miss M. J. O'Neil, school principal, Miss Marjory Watson, conductor of the school choir, and Miss Helen Riley, accompanist, were presented with tokens of appreciation on the success of the school choir in the recent musical festival. The choir won the Premier S. F. Tointon Cup, securing the highest marks for rural elementary schools.

The presentation to the Misses O'Neil and Watson of a silver flower basket and vase to mark the occasion, was presented to Miss Riley of a music box by Jean Marcotte and Virginia Todd.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, May 23.—Wheat: The market was a dull, featureless affair to-day, and while lacking any support from export business, which was again said to be practically nil, there was very little selling pressure, with the local crowd staying close to shore, due to the holiday in this market to-morrow prices declined once cent during the first period, due to weakness in Chicago and to the fact that Liverpool only partly followed our upturn on Wednesday, but Chicago came back and Winnipeg followed quickly with early sellers covering up, and prices advanced to half over the previous close, and from there the market was down and up within a narrow range, being largely a scalping proposition.

Outside business was confined to a selling by Chicago, which was believed to be unwinding of spreads, while New York interest took a little wheat on the breaks, but the total volume of business was small.

There was a very quiet demand for cash wheat, offerings were not large, but buyers were not inclined to increase their holdings over the holiday, and spreads on active grades were mostly quarter to half off. Exporters were doing nothing.

The weather in western Canada the past twenty-four hours has been cloudy and cool with slight frosts reported at a few points, but no damage. There was a few light showers in northern Alberta, but the whole west was practically without participation with nothing in sight.

The crops are not suffering to-day, but buyers were not inclined to increase their holdings over the holiday, and spreads on active grades were mostly quarter to half off. Exporters were doing nothing.

There was a little selling of May and October against purchases of May, an evening up proposition. Closing prices unchanged to one lower.

Chicago, Ill., May 23.—Wheat: Most of the session wheat was lower than the previous close, but there was a tone of buying on the part of the local crowd, and the market was not so much discouraged for buyers, but the price level is admittedly very cheap, so that a change in conditions will be bullish.

Crop news will be the closure of all eyes during the next few weeks. Deficiency in moisture will be important in Canada if weather conditions are unfavorable.

The wheat in that quarter may be in poor shape to stand the hardships of summer.

After constant reiteration for many weeks, the bearish features are more or less stable, and it would not be surprising to see prices react upward considerably.

Spring wheat reports suggest a slight decrease in acreage, and European reports, while more favorable than a while back, admit considerable winter killing. More rain is needed in Argentina.

Feel at this level purchases on setbacks for moderate turns are advisable.

Corn—The great majority of planting reports from Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Missouri were indicative of a decidedly backward season. The reaction of country holders to this state of affairs will probably be to curtail country marketings until it is seen what time of a start the crop gets.

In the meantime cash business is good, the basis firm and primary receipts to-day were just what was wanted by the market.

INVESTMENT ANGLE

(By H. E. Hunnings & Co. Ltd.)

Montreal, May 23 (By B.C. Bond)—Important news is believed to be pending for Noranda shareholders. Quarters close to the company expect that the shares will be placed on a dividend basis and that probably a distribution of 50 cents per share will be initiated this summer. From this initial rate dividends can be increased to a substantially higher quarterly basis next year, with earnings permitting.

It is also expected that at a later date, when the deep or bodies have been more thoroughly developed, the addition of another two units to the smelter will be announced and the maximum capacity raised to 5,000 tons daily. This, however, is looking ahead a couple of years.

Montreal, May 23 (By B.C. Bond)—Too much attention is being paid to the speculative angle and not enough to the investment merit of Canadian issues, Financial Service says to-day.

Canadian industrial corporations have plenty of room for expansion and investment on a sound basis with a view to capital appreciation in the future would make for a better market than the buying of stocks with the hope of selling them at a small quick profit on bulges.

Montreal, May 23 (By B.C. Bond)—The general decline in quoted values on the Montreal market this week came as a direct result of the sharp break in Wall Street. The possibility of an increase in the bank rate has been weighing on the market for some time, and to many the uncertainty appeared as a much greater handicap to the market than an actual advance would be.

The entire situation still appears chaotic with uncertainty in the light of this and the stringent money conditions here, Canadian stocks on the whole have held remarkably well.

International Nickel dipped to 48 yesterday, with a turnover of 23,740 shares, but came up again to-day with the rest of the market. The downward movement yesterday in the stock came in the face of the appearance of the quarterly earnings statement of the company, which showed profits fully up to expectation. The 36 cents a share earned on the common was almost double the dividend rate. It must also be kept in mind that while current earnings are showing marked expansion, it is only when the Frodo comes into regular production that the company will be shown the spectacular increase in earnings on which is based the optimistic feeling held by those in close touch with the affairs of the company.

The Electric World has just issued its annual authoritative summary of the output and peak load of the largest electrical distributing systems in North America. It is of particular interest here, because it shows Shawinigan Water and Paper Company in second place among individual companies. The largest output in the United States and in the world was produced by the Buffalo, Niagara and Western Power Corporation, with a total of 4,832,859 kilowatt hours.

Next comes Shawinigan with 4,248,392 kilowatt hours, which includes 339,076 kilowatt hours of the Laurentide Power Company, which was taken over by Shawinigan. If the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario were included in the list, it would rank second with a total output of 4,499,404 kilowatt hours for 1928.

VANCOUVER MINING MARKET

(By H. E. Hunnings & Co. Ltd.)

Vancouver, May 23.—Ore stocks closed this afternoon for the third day in a wave of excited anticipation over expected developments before the market opens again on the first of next week. Shortly after the start of trading this afternoon, A.P. Consolidated sold up to 4 1/2. Calmet was selling at 4 1/2. Most of the mines were also firm.

Vancouver, May 23.—A big buying wave was on in the ore to-day, with the feeling that the market was running into what will be a big month in June and July.

Home Oil sold up to 24 1/2, being heavily bought by insiders on reports from the drilling operations at No. 2 well.

Stargel was heavily bought up to 2.05. In the mining section, Pend Oreille continued its firmness and was up to 5 1/2-5 3/4.

Stargel was another strong and active feature with heavy buying. George Enterprise moved up another notch in a steady climb which has characterized it during the last couple of weeks, and closed at 18 1/2.

More buying is coming into the market here as a result of the increased activity in the eastern mines on the Toronto exchange and also as a result of the inauguration of spring and summer operations at the B.C. properties.

High grade bonds were inclined to be firmer, but losses were frequent. Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville firms sold off more than a point. Georgia Midland Railway lost a fraction over a point and Carolina Clinchfield and Ohio Gas were likewise soft. Pennsylvania General 5s dropped to a new low for the year.

Industrials, utilities and specialties attracted little attention. National Dairy products 5 1/2s were stronger, while Duquesne Light 4 1/2s gave ground.

The convertibles also were less active than usual. International Telephone 4 1/2s pushed up on the stronger tone of the stock market, but changes in the rest of the share option group were nominal.

U.S. Government bonds were irregularly lower on very thin demand. Kingdom of Italy 7s were a feature of the quiet foreign list, losing a fraction on a moderate turnover.

TORONTO MINING MARKET

(By H. E. Hunnings & Co. Ltd.)

Toronto, May 23.—Newbec was the big feature again on the Toronto Stock Exchange, with a tremendous volume of trading in the issue. From a close yesterday of 69 1/2-70, the stock climbed to-day to another new record high at 75 1/2.

Newbec has cut high grade ore in a cross-cut driven south from the drift on the 250-foot level. A cross-cut planned to the north, and one is expected there, too. Cross-cut to the south on the 125-foot level, which had been turned to drift along the south wall of the ore body, has been continued again to the south, and after passing through some low grade has again encountered good grade. New ore found both on the 125 and 250-foot level, being clear of the fracture, gives the property the utmost interest, as any pocket could develop into a good sized lens.

Toronto reports of Newbec assays on the 125-foot level show the ore averaging 37.50 a ton across 17 feet. The mining list here continues to broaden, with a larger volume of trade and more issues participating.

There was a trade to-day in Amulet, between 123 and 133, and in Abana and Ajax oil.

Big Masquett was stronger, rising from yesterday's 15 1/2-16 level to sell as high as 15 1/2 to-day.

Trick Hughes rose 5 1/2 to 8 1/2. Sherritt-Gordon, however, was easier, due to the big interest in the stock.

St. Antonio has jumped into action and to-day sold from 20 to 25, a gain of 5 to 10 points over the level of a week ago.

In the oil list, Wainwell came in for heavy trade, and sold up to 5 1/2, a gain of several points from yesterday's level.

girls of the highest order, and that people consult him about everything.
I can readily believe the latter, because he's a man anybody would trust, a splendid chap. He was kind to me, took me to his place in the country
where he lives a queer, spartan life,
spending nothing, saving every copper.
They have it out there that he's working out some great reparation scheme for clearing the name he bears. So,
when you're thinking hard about old Compton, Brodie, or hear anybody
blaming the Brodies generally, leave this one out. He's a white man. I don't know when I met anybody I liked better. I wish he looked a little happier, but there, you can't have it all ways.

"Well, you'll be tired of this long
rigmarole, but you needn't answer it, because we're to be moving with some rapidity in the next month or two,
and, as I say, I expect to see Scotland before I'm much older. I hope I'll find you where I saw you last, and that everything will be as it was at the Manse. A chap may rove and wander far, but he wants to find everything unchanged at home.

"Kind regards and best wishes always, from
"Jimmy Grier."

Beatrice sat very still, looking at the written words, and something tugged
at her heart-strings. Fifteen months had gone since she had sent John Brodie out from that room, with words she had often regretted and longed to recall. This seemed to her like some strange message across the void. It was a call to her blood, anyway, it mounted richly to her cheeks,
as she turned the page and read again:
"The only thing that seemed to interfere with what you were doing, and whether you were still carrying on at George Street." If his interest was strong enough to make him question a stranger, why then had he not known the little letter she had written, almost with her heart's blood, and winged to him in the night? Often her cheeks had burned over that, longing to recall the written words almost as passionately as she regretted the spoken ones.

But apparently he bore no malice,
since he remembered her kindly.
Should she write to him again, she wondered, now that a fresh link was established. Evidently he was so well known in Singapore that a letter simply addressed to him there, or at the English Club, would find him.

Re-reading Jimmy's letter, her thoughts wandered a little. He did not mention Ida, who had now been
Mrs. Gustav Weller for nearly a year.
There was no indication that he was still smarting under her treatment of him. Jimmy, however, was a very typical Scot, who did not wear his heart on his sleeve. This trend of thought served to focus her mind on Ida, and she suddenly remembered that she was due at the house at Seaford for tea. She did not go very often, for though, apparently, Ida was happy enough, Beatrice could not gasp accustomed to her brother-in-law, nor find a common meeting ground of respect or liking. All she desired from him was that he should be kind to Ida, and leave her out of the cycle of his thoughts or actions.

His frequent and pressing invitations to her to make Seaford House her home, his splendid gifts which she accepted coldly, and did not use, left her untouched.

There was an inner antagonism,
something deeper than she could understand or grasp. She did not trust him, she was not sure even whether she had any respect for him, though he was well known in the port of Leith, and business men spoke highly of him.

She folded up her letters, which had brought a new and poignant interest into her day, put them aside
in a pigeon hole of the little Empire bureau, and went to change into a thin afternoon dress.

She still wore half-mourning, and the little frou-frou of black and white, with a drooping hat of black lace, were singularly becoming. She was a gracious, dignified, attractive woman, at whom many men and all women looked twice.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tynymites were tickled pink. Said Scouty, "Golly, just to think that our old friend the Goofygoose can swim as well as fly. He takes us down a stream like this—a trip that none of us would miss—or else he gladly takes us on a trip through the sky."

Another said, "He's simply great, and I can hardly stand to wait until we are where we are bound. This stream must be some place. Say, wouldn't it be simply grand if it should lead to a place, if just to look around."

Thus, down the stream they moved along. The Goofygoose seemed good and strong. His long legs kept them on the go for many miles, or more. The stream went winding here and there. "Twas fine, out in the open air," "I hope," exclaimed the funny bird, "that my legs don't get sore."

"Let's take a nap," wee Coppy cried.

"Come on there, flop down by my side. The Goofygoose will watch us and I'm sure we'll all be right. I'm tired. I often get that way and then I love to sleep at day. 'Course, if you wish, the rest of you can wait until tonight."

But every little Tiny chap decided he would take a nap. The Goofygoose kept swimming, as he smiled back at the crowd. And then he looked ahead and saw a sight that filled him full of awe. "Wake up, you Tynies! Look ahead!" he shouted, very loud.

The Tynies jumped, and looked real quick. They wondered if it was a trick, 'cause just ahead they saw a falls. And that's where they were bound. Then, suddenly, the Goofygoose exclaimed, "No harm will come to you." He took the raft up in the air, and sailed on, safe and sound.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's May Dance

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

All the animal children in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily had built his hollow stump bungalow, were very much excited. Everywhere you went you would hear talk like this:

"Are you going?"

"Of course I'm going!"

"Why, of course you're going to dance?"

"Why, of course I'm going to dance!"

"So am I. Oh, won't it be fun with all the colored ribbons twining around the pole and shining in the sun like a rainbow or soap bubbles, and—"

"Good things to eat, too!"

"Oh, yes, Uncle Wiggily wouldn't forget that!"

The animal boys and girls were talking about the May pole dance, for which Uncle Wiggily had sent out invitations a few days before. As I told you last night, the rabbit gentleman had set up a May pole in his bungalow yard and had fastened long streamers of many-colored ribbons to the top so that they hung down to the ground. The boys and girls were to take hold of these ribbons and dance in and out around the May pole, weaving the ribbons so they would make the May pole look like the one in front of a jolly barber's shop.

"Did you ever hear of such a thing?" quacked Lulu.

"Did you ever hear of such a thing?" quacked Lulu Wibblewobble, the duck, to Arabella, the chicken girl. "My brother Charlie, the rooster and Jackie and Pettie Bow Wow, the puppies, and a lot of other boys are going to be in the May dance."

"So I heard," cackled Arabella.

"Well, why not?" crowed Charlie, coming along just then with Jackie and Pettie. "Don't you boys want some of the good things to eat as well as you girls?"

"Oh, they're just going to be in Uncle Wiggily's May dance to get something to eat!" quacked Lulu.

"Well, aren't you going to eat, too?" quacked Jimmie, her brother.

"Sure they are!" barked Jackie and the girl animals couldn't say they weren't for they were. But then, of course, girls like dancing better than boys, though this time Charlie, Jackie and Pettie had even made up their minds to help twine ribbons around the May pole.

"For there's going to be swell things to eat!" whispered Pettie. "Bone chops and toasted marshmallows and gum drops and—"

"Corn meal cookies, too!" quacked Jimmie.

It was true. Uncle Wiggily had decided to have a little party when the children danced around his May pole and now all was in readiness. From their houses out ran the girl and boy

To-morrow's Horoscope

FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1929

Benefic aspects rule to-day, according to astrology, which reads fair promise in the stars for the next twenty-four hours.

There is an especially good sign for every branch of purely intellectual endeavor. Educators should benefit especially.

Young folk to-day have a direction of the stars that is most fortunate. Parents and friends probably will be generous in according gifts as well as praise.

The stars again prophesy that classes of '29 will be especially famous because of the future leaders of both sexes who have many schools and colleges of the country.

Lawyers should find this exceedingly profitable in honors as well as financial rewards.

Newspapers and magazines are now subject to planetary influences of suspense moment. They will have much of great interest to record.

This should be an auspicious day for advertising and for all branches of publicity. Changes in the manner of gathering news will be made, owing to new inventions not yet perfected, the stars prophesy.

Amalgamation of journalistic interests and broader co-operation are forecast.

Some sort of agreement or pact that unites this country and Great Britain in a common interest is indicated.

July is to be a month of many weather vagaries, it is presaged, and heavy storms may be expected in many places, especially in the Middle West.

Aviation disasters may be many in the summer months, many of them apparently due to warfare in foreign countries.

Submarines also will claim as much attention as they had in the World War, the stars prophesy, for there will be a new sort of undersea fleet active in warfare.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of much happiness for the coming year. Pleasure journeys are indicated.

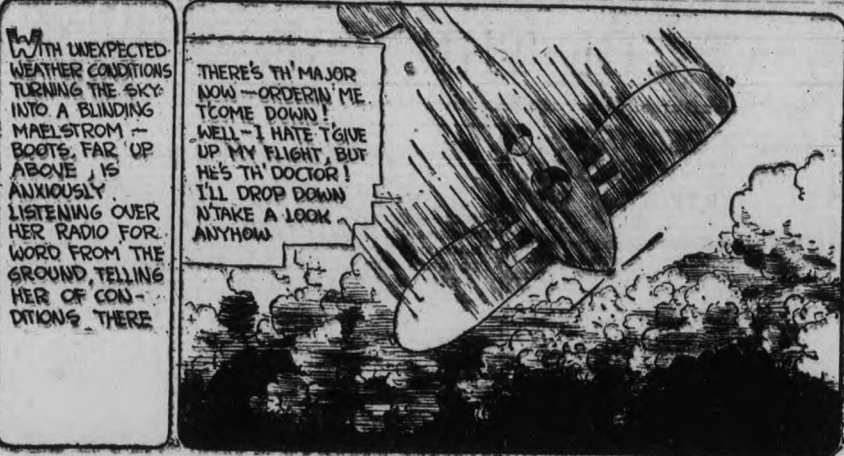

Children born on this day may be high-spirited, energetic and attractive in many ways. The subjects of Gemini usually have two-sided natures and are altruistic and serious as well as gay.

Stephen Girard, Philadelphia philanthropist, was born on this date, 1750. It was also the birthday of Linnaeus, celebrated botanist, 1707, and of Ellis Gray Loring, distinguished Boston lawyer, 1803.

RACE IN SLEDS OVER SNOWY WASTES IS FEATURE IN FILM

One of the prettiest and yet most thrilling sights ever depicted on the screen is a race of two Russian sleds, each drawn by three horses, over many miles of the Russian snow wastes. This is shown in "Pawns of Passion," which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre.
Henry Baudin, who plays the part of the Russian border, with the kidnapped child of the woman with whom he is madly infatuated, after he has caused the death of her husband.
She pursues in another sled with her lover trying to rescue her baby.

The horses of both teams are lashed
into a furious pace as the sleds jump
through the high drifts, many times narrowly escaping turning over with their occupants. Over hill and valley
they charge until they strike the Dniester River. There the race is continued on the ice until a small lake is reached and the rear team is fast catching up to the fugitive.

On the stage at the Capitol are Morris and Auburn, two girls in a novelty dance and acrobatic specialty;
Holt and King, in comedy singing and a snappy line of patter, and John O'Pray, the little "Irish Caruso," in song selections. On the same programme are Chris Wade and his Capitol stage band and Smiling Jack Mc-ford, the singing and dancing master of ceremonies.

TOM MIX TAKES TO AEROPLANES IN NEW WESTERN THRILLER

Unfolding a rousing story of the west that offers sterling entertainment for adults and children alike, the FBO
production, "The Drifter," which stars Tom Mix, is now playing at the Coliseum Theatre.

The frontiers of the new west in Tom's latest feature in which a thrilling aeroplane flight occupies a considerable portion of the action. Tom pursues a fleeing badman to the extremity of leaping on the wing of the latter's plane when the culprit is about to take off. When the desperado, who is the pilot of the ship, attempts to make a parachute jump from the plane, thus leaving Tom to his fate, Tom grasps his adversary around the waist and makes the descent with him.

Tony, Tom's wonder horse, is the star's constant companion in "The Drifter." Another animal, a white mule, ranks as a principal in the action for the reason that it is the only living creature which knows the way to a secret mine—the bone of contention among all the human principals in the production. In the fight to keep possession of the mule and to find the location of the mine, Tom,
who really is a deputy marshal in disguise, engages in a series of hand-to-hand battles which are among the most virile ever photographed for a motion picture.

STARS OF MUSICAL STAGE APPEAR IN GREATEST TALKIE

Musical comedy and vaudeville dancers, recruited from stage shows in New York and the Pacific Coast, have their innings in the first all-talking,
all-singing, all-dancing musical comedy
of the screen, "The Broadway Melody." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's attraction, which is showing at the Dominion
Theatre all this week.

Ballets, song ensembles and other brilliant acts figure in the theatre scenes in this vivid drama of backstage life.

Among the dancing stars are Alice
Weaver, New York danseuse, Fletcher Morton, known on the stage as the world's greatest soft shoe dancer, and many others.
Anita Page, Bessie Love, and Charles
King, former New York musical comedy star, head the cast in the new production, the first picture for which special music and lyrics were produced.
Arthur Freed and Nacio Herb Brown, famous composers of "The Doll Dance,"
worked with scenarists and dialogue writers to complete the brilliant "Broadway Melody." "You Were Made for Me," "Wedding of the Painted Doll,"
and the rest of the scintillating numbers. The last of the picture, which is a brilliant stage spectacle filmed in natural colors.

"BUDDY" ROGERS
PLAYS NEW ROLE IN VARSITY FILM

In a new kind of college story,
Charles "Buddy" Rogers, popular male star of movieland, appears this week
at the Coliseum Theatre. "Varsity"
is the title of the picture, which has won universal approval.

The settings of the picture are laid
at Princeton University, and the faculty members of that great institution of learning and undergraduates later endorsed it, as being an authentic representation of real North American college life. In this picture there are no great athletic events upon which some college students depend to establish their name and win for them some pretty co-ed. There are plenty of rollicking scenes, however, and all the goodfellowship usually associated with college life. But behind it all is a strong story of the love of a handsome and popular young undergraduate for his father, the lovable but ignorant and uneducated janitor of one of the university buildings.

On the stage the Coliseum Players present "Truthful Liar." Plenty of laughs for the audiences are provided by this entertaining show and the players appear at their best. "Toby"
and Miss Leone Weber head
the bill and others in the cast who give good performances in their respective roles are Miss Dorothy Miss Esther Todd, Paul Wallace, Forrest Taylor, Leon Cluff and Lorus Bagley.

OVER 700 PEOPLE PLAYED AS EXTRAS
IN "THE BONDMAN"

To make "The Bondman," the attraction at the Playhouse Theatre next week, thirty principals and 700 extras
were required. The latter are all natives of the Isle of Man and Sicily,
where the picture was actually made.
In fact, all of the scenes in the picture were made on locations called for by the novel of Sir Hall Caine.

Gyro Frolic To-night at the Coliseum Theatre Promises to Be Spectacular Affair

To-night is the night a rare treat awaits all who patronize the monster whoopee frolic, which is being held at the Coliseum Theatre this evening
at 11:30 o'clock. The Victoria Gyro Club will present the performance, and a most attractive programme of variety offerings promise to win an enthusiastic ovation.

Special vaudeville turns from Portland, Seattle and Vancouver will be presented. Members of the Coliseum company will appear in comedy and novelty numbers, and prominent local artists will make contributions
which will round off a really top-notch bill of the very best in entertainment.

Fun, pep, beautiful girls, snappy
dancing and syncopation will feature to-night's breezy, bright show. It will start off with a bang, and the various turns will be staged with clock-like precision. Keen interest is being displayed in the performance, and it is anticipated that a packed house
will participate in the festival.

The Gyro Club has been working hard to make to-night's event the most successful of its kind ever put on here, and the committee which has carried out the arrangements for the fete is composed of Gyro Gordon Chapman, chairman; Robert Yates,
Harold McDonald, Harold Butters, Harold Beckwith, Archie Willis, Sidney Chiverrall and Louis Glazen.

Thousand Dollars For Humorous Play

The Henry Duffy Players Incorporated, operating theatres on the Pacific Coast in Los Angeles, Hollywood, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Vancouver and Oakland, Cal., are offering a prize of $1,000 for the best wholesome, humorous play not hitherto produced. The winning play, which must be a clean and wholesome comedy, not only will receive a cash award, but will be offered in Duffy theatres if found suitable for production, and also in New York.

The contest has been started with the idea of discovering worthwhile un-produced plays and to stimulate creative effort on the part of playwrights
on this continent. The contest is open to anyone and the dramatic critics of the newspapers of the Pacific Coast,
including the states of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington, and also British Columbia, are to receive the manuscripts and act as the judges of the contest, the final committee of dramatic critics being chosen by the vote of their fellow reviewers. Manuscripts may be sent to any of the newspaper reviewers of the Coast.

The contest closes on October 1, 1929, and the award will be made on November 1. Further details of the contest may be obtained by writing
the Publicity Department, Henry Duffy Players, Alcazar Theatre, San Francisco.

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is harm done, for Castoria is a baby

safe to give the youngest infant; you that Castoria means most. Some night

Alderman Is Speaker at City

Meeting

Alderman Litchfield in addressing the members of the City Temple Men's Social Club Tuesday on "Power Rights
in Industry," referred fully to his conversations with the officials of a local company relative to power rates as applied to Victoria.

The speaker said one of the vital issues in connection with industries located on Vancouver Island or in Victoria was the matter of power rates,
and that until such times as Victoria was on a par with the City of Vancouver in this respect Victoria could not hope to induce manufacturing or industrial firms to locate here.

He said that while serving as a member of our school board he was very much impressed by the fact that hundreds of the scholars who were educated here at the expense of the taxpayers were compelled to seek employment elsewhere on leaving school, solely because the facilities for them
to earn a livelihood here were not to be found.

Alderman Litchfield expressed sympathy at the news of Dr. Davies' illness and hoped that he would soon be restored to good health again.
Dr. Ernest Hall will address the club members next Tuesday, his subject being "Rejuvenation."
